

ROGERS SUGGESTS THAT GRUNDY LEAD
PROBE OF LOBBIES

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Dec. 14.—There are happy days for Uncle Joe Grundy. Here he has been standing out in the lobby of our capital for 40 years, and finally asked to come in and sit down.
And he will make 'em a valuable man, when they resume the investigations of lobbyists. Put him on the senate committee, and he will know exactly how to trap 'em. You know the old saying, "Set a certain party to catch a certain party, both of the same industry."
And his rise has been unparalleled in American history. Why less than six months ago I used to get hundreds of letters, "Who is this Grundy you are always talking about in your dispatches? Is it a real character? Or one of your inventions?" Now here he is, better known than Mayor Walker or Clara Bow.
Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Christmas shopping got under way in earnest today. There will be a holiday crowd of shoppers in the city tonight. DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING IN NEW CASTLE!
Any of you folks that get a chance to speak to Santa in the next few days, remind him of PA New's desire that he drop a rail road station down in New Castle on Christmas eve.
W. W. Campbell, of New Wilmington has again been honored with election as President of the National Builder's Supply Association, at the convention in Chicago. It is a fine tribute to Mr. Campbell and his success during the first year he headed the organization.
There are some mighty fine appearing Christmas windows about the city. It was revealed when the holiday celebration was opened last night.
The community tree has not as yet been erected on the public square, but the colored lights in the business area decorative scheme were burning last night, and given quite a holiday atmosphere to the city.
With the mild weather of the past few days, most all of the frost seems to have gone out of the ground, and there was mud everywhere last night.
The mercury in the official thermometer at the New Castle Water company pump station is continuing to fall, and evidently presages a cold snap, although it will hardly get down to the zero mark. Falling temperatures, followed by snow is promised by the Pittsburgh weather bureau for Sunday. Yesterday's heat was too much for this time of the year. Imagine having to pack around an overcoat with the temperature up around 60 degrees.
PA New is hopeful that Thanksgiving weather will be repeated for Christmas. It never seems like Christmas when there isn't snow on the ground, and with only 10 more days until Christmas eve, perhaps the weather man can fix up something real nice. However, Santa Claus still has the automobile and airplane to fall back on if the weather man fails us.
Something should be done about parking on both sides of North St. Parking is prohibited in front of the post office, according to the signs, but a lot of people do not observe the edict. It wouldn't be a bad idea to prohibit parking across the street from the post office and permit it on the post office side of the street. Traffic is continually held up at this point, because two lines of traffic cannot pass when machines are parked on both sides of the street.
This is the last day of hunting season for big game. Deer may now roam the woods in peace.
Warning is being issued by officials of the State Department of Forestry against the practice of city residents driving out into the country and cutting down spruce, pine and hemlock trees for Christmas trees. Thousands

Hope To Pass Bill In Present

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The American people were assured a $160,000,000 tax reduction gift for Christmas when senate leaders agreed today to pass the administration's measure before nightfall.

Three proposals to amend were pending, but administration leaders were rallying votes to prevent their adoption because any change in the resolution will necessitate its return to the house. If passed by the senate in its present form the measure will go direct to the White House for President Hoover's approval. In either event the tax paying public will get its tax reduction gift before Christmas, although federal taxes will not be due until next March 15.

Proposal Rejected.

The senate already has rejected one of the pending proposals, the McMaster plan to use $150,000,000 to reduce freight rates on wheat, cattle and other farm products. This proposal, entirely eliminating tax reduction, was rejected by a vote of 12 to 60. Seven Republicans, Blaine, Harris, Blease, Heflin, Sheppard and Smith, voted for it.

Senator McMaster (R) of South Dakota, its author sponsored his plan again as an amendment to the bill. His rejection was assured, since in its new form it would provide for tax reduction as well as a slash in freight rates on farm products.

A second substitute proposal, suggested by Senator Thomas, (D) of Oklahoma, would eliminate tax reduction and apply the $160,000,000 treasury surplus to building good roads and public buildings. Thomas would use $100,000,000 on good roads, and $60,000,000 on new federal buildings around the country. Both appropriations would be in addition to Members of the family of Percy L. Craig of 214 East Lincoln avenue, were summoned to his bedside at Clifton Springs, N. Y., Friday, when Mr. Craig's condition became suddenly worse.

Mr. Craig, who has been ill for some time, has been at Clifton Springs for several months, and was apparently regaining his health and strength. Yesterday, however, he appeared worse, and his son and daughter were summoned to his bedside.
Friends received a message this morning stating that Mr. Craig was able to recognize his children, but that his condition is very critical.

Holiday Lights Blaze
As Formal Ceremony
Occurs Friday Night

A whistle blew, a switch was thrown and out through the rain of a warm December night thousands of Christmas lights twinkled, red and green, flashing out their friendly warning that the Christmas season had opened. Children's voices were raised in songs of praise, a few bands blared into martial music and the turning on of the Christmas lights was formally marked.
In spite of the inclemency of the weather, some two thousand people jammed the public square to witness the occasion Friday evening, December 13, when Mayor William H. Gillespie turned on the lights and the choirs and bands followed with a program. At times rain fell, but the crowd stayed. On both sides was the roar of traffic and the clatter of bells.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The American delegation will "follow the flag" to the naval limitations conference in London next month. The members will sail on the S. S. George Washington, of the United States Line, leaving New York on either Jan. 10 or 11.

This announcement by Secretary of State Stimson, chief of the delegation, ended all hopes of some of the members to cross the Atlantic on Germany's swift liner Bremen which sails on Jan. 11 and would place the delegation in London around Dec. 15, two days ahead of the George Washington's schedule.

In Presidential Suite
Comptroller-General McCall advised Stimson the delegates could sail on the Bremen if they made individual certificates to him stating sailing on the Bremen was necessary and that Stimson make certificates to him for all. The Secretary of State said the two days that would be gained by taking the Bremen would be lost complying with McCall's request.
It is probable Stimson will occupy the Presidential Suite on the liner, the same assigned President Woodrow Wilson when he crossed the ocean for the Paris peace conference.

Three Severely Hurt

(International News Service)
GREENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 14.—Two persons are dead and three are seriously injured today following the collision of an automobile and a motor truck on the William Penn highway at Export near here early this morning.
Mrs. Esther Marie Hall, 35, of Delmar, Pa., and Charles Hickey, 19, of South Wilmerding died shortly after the collision. Elmore Hickey, 16, suffered severe lacerations of the body; Mrs. Elizabeth Brill 40 of Swissvale was cut about the head and John O'Connell, 18 of Curtisville, received lacerations about the head and body.
O'Connell was driving the party to Wilmerding where they were to attend a funeral today, when the automobile crashed into the truck parked along the highway after the truck driver had left it to get a load when it stalled.

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—A dozen choice Republican assignments on senate committees will be awarded today by the Republican committee on committees in the senate.
While far more important assignments will be given to other senators, the greatest interest is attached to the appointments that will go to Senator Joseph R. Grundy, the so-called "grand daddy of all lobbyists," now safely enrolled as Pennsylvania's junior senator. Grundy in all probability will be placed on the senate manufacturers committee, because of his long experience in the manufacturing industry, and this will be his most important assignment.

Under LaFollette.
Placing Grundy on the manufacturers committee incidentally will bring him under the chairmanship of Senator "Young Bob" LaFollette, an insurgent from Wisconsin, one of those states described by the Pennsylvania as "backward." He may also win a post on the senate committee on banking and currency, which would place him under the chairmanship of Senator Norbeck (R) of South Dakota, who comes from another of Grundy's "backward states." In order to get any of his legislative proposals through these committees, Grundy will have to win the approval of the two insurgents from his "backward states."

TEXAS OFFICIALS

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—A telegram from the State Department sent whizzing across the wires today to Laredo, Texas, and not American guns, will prevent Plutarco Elias Calles, former president of Mexico, from being arrested at the Texas town in connection with two murders.

The message, stating Calles had been accorded full diplomatic immunity in an American visa attached to his Mexican passport, was directed to John A. Walls, district attorney of Laredo. Walls announced he would arrest Calles when he passed through Texas on his return trip to Mexico.

Full Immunity
Secretary of State Stimson took this action after Richard Boyce, American consul, reported Walls would not molest Calles if Boyce could show him an official letter stating immunity had been granted him.

The message also stated President Hoover fully recognizes the special immunity granted Calles for his round trip through the country from New York.

No armed guard has been detailed to see his trip to the southern republic is not interrupted, Stimson said.

New York, Dec. 14.—General Plutarco Elias Calles, Mexico's former president, will leave here today for the southern republic. He arrived yesterday on the delayed Bremen and met with Pascual Ortiz Rubio, president-elect, and other Mexican officials.

Fisher Assails Senators

Him In Grundy Case

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Governor John S. Fisher of Pennsylvania, who is in New York City today for the purpose of attending the Pennsylvania Society dinner this evening, at which he is to be the guest, assailed United States senators who had criticized the appointment of Joseph R. Grundy to the Senate.
Grundy accepted the appointment after the Senate had refused to seat Senator-elect William Vare. He agreed to take Vare's place only after considerable urging and "had done it only out of sense of party duty," according to Governor Fisher.

Verbally Lashed
Senators who attacked the Grundy appointment were verbally lashed by Governor Fisher. He said the furor over Vare and Grundy would be a "hilarious farce" if it were not that it "is destroying the very fundamentals of American government."

Governor Fisher declared that "no self-respecting individual could enter upon a tongue-lashing contest with those senators down there without sacrificing his own self-respect."
Governor Fisher said there isn't an office within the gift of the people of Pennsylvania that Grundy could not have had had he wanted it.
"But Mr. Grundy never wanted to go near public office before," said the governor.

AUBURN, N. Y., Dec. 14.—With order prevailing within the walls of Auburn prison, following the convict mutiny which cost nine lives, questions of prison policy today overshadowed all developments. In the last 24 hours these things have happened:

1.—The immediate resignation of Dr. Raymond F. C. Kie, state commissioner of correction, has been demanded by the board of directors of the National Society of Penal Information, New York City, which has petitioned Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt to bring about Kie's retirement because of his alleged unwillingness to deal with the emergency at Auburn prison.

Osborn, mayor of Auburn, and son of the late Thomas Mott Osborne, famous advocate of prison reform who founded the Mutual Welfare league, charged that a "reign of terror" now exists at Auburn under the supervision of George H. Sullivan, acting warden. Sullivan announced he is running the prison with "an iron hand."

City engineering department attaches who have been watching the Neshannock creek since the removal of the Rosena dam today reported a swift current and rapid flow.

There is a rift where the barricade formerly set in the stream, but this is due, they report, to deposits which had lodged up and down the stream. The flow of the water is expected to gradually eliminate the deposits.

Both Neshannock creek and Shenango river have swelled since the downfall of rain of the past few days.

JURORS SPENT NIGHT
CONSIDERING VERDICT

Accused Claimed Shooting Of George Marcotta Was In Self Defense

After being out all night, the jury in the case of Steve Garlich, charged in the Lawrence county court with the murder of George Marcotta, brought in a verdict of murder in the second degree, the penalty for which is a penitentiary term.

Testimony in the case was closed on Friday afternoon, when arguments were made by defendant's attorneys. At an evening session District Attorney J. Elder Bryan argued the case for the commonwealth.

This was followed by a charge by Judge James A. Chambers in which he reviewed the evidence on both sides. The jury retired at 8:40 p. m. and after spending all night in a discussion of the case reached an agreement which was reported at 9:20 this morning.

Several Votes Taken
It is understood that there was considerable difference of opinion among the jurors relative to the case, and several votes were taken before an agreement was reached. The defendant, Steve Garlich, was brought into court this morning when the verdict was read. He exhibited very little emotion. It has not been stated whether or not he will ask for a new trial.

The defense contended that when Garlich shot Marcotta he was acting in self-defense. It was claimed that Marcotta had a knife, although there did not appear to be any evidence that a knife had been found. One of the features of the case which worked against the self-defense plea of Garlich was that the evidence showed that several of the shots had been fired at Marcotta after he had fallen to the ground.

Witnesses, while unable to see Marcotta, testified that the direction of the fire from the revolver in the hands of Garlich was downward. This was relative to the shots fired after the first shot. It was contended by the commonwealth that if Garlich had been acting in self-defense there could be no excuse for firing shots after Marcotta was lying on the ground.

MERGER RUMORS ARE PREVALENT

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Under the promise of a prompt consummation of a number of the railroad merger and consolidation projects which have been hanging fire five to ten years, railroad stocks forged ahead from 2 to 10 points in the week-end market, once again assuming the place as leaders of a bull movement. The motor stocks and the Utilities moved ahead briskly in the final period, under the stimulus of a greatly improved outlook for their respective industries.

Buying of the rail accompanied Washington dispatches promising a constructive statement from the commerce commission on the subject of railroad mergers and a better spirit of cooperation in consummating important deals.

Pittsburgh and West Virginia jumped 10 points to 125 in active trading, while New York Central moved up 5 to 180 1-2; New Haven up 4 1-2 to 118 1-4; Western Maryland up 3 1-2 and new gains of 1 to 2 1-2 points in a dozen or more of the favorites.

Hudson was a leader in the motors, with a new 4-point jump to 55. Chrysler sold in large blocks at 37, up 1 1-2; General Motors at 43 3-4, up 2 and Studebaker at 44 1-2, up 1 1-2.

Steel Moves Up.
United States Steel improved its position by moving up about 3 points to 174 3-4. American and Foreign Power, Consolidated Gas and other utility favorites, reached higher prices in active trading.

In contrast to last Saturday, when a 3,000,000-share volume was rolled up, trading in the stock market tapered off today. And the total turnover of stocks was only 1,651,000 shares.

Railroad stocks and motors retained most of their new gains and closed higher. Pittsburgh and West Virginia made a net gain of 10 points at its final price of 125. New York Central closed at 180 1-2, up 5; Baltimore and Ohio at 119 1-2, up 1 1-4; New Haven at 117 7-8, up 4; Missouri Pacific at 90 7-8, up 1 1-4. United States closed at 174 up 2 and Hudson Motor at 54 1-4, up 3 1-8.

Donaters Are Asked To Call Charities

In order that no duplications will be made, the Associated Charities, East street, requests organizations or individuals, who are preparing baskets to be distributed to needy families of the city, to call the office of the charities and let it be known to whom the baskets will be sent.

It is hoped that many baskets of food will be donated this Christmas, as there are a large number of families who really need help. With the cooperation of the various organizations, with the Associated Charities, much can be done to make this an enjoyable Christmas for a large group of people without funds, nor means for support.

The TOWN DOCTOR

(The Doctor of Towns)

Says:

NEXT WEEK IS CHRISTMAS

OR THE sake of those who have stood behind the counter from early morning till late at night trying to please you, satisfy and serve you well, I hope you did your shopping early. I hope there isn't a toy left in all of your stores—I hope every boy and every girl will find their stockings full to overflowing—that you will see to it that every boy and girl does have a Christmas.

May everybody in New Castle be happy, and merry this Christmas, and then the family circle gathers 'round the dinner table, may every heart be glad.

No doubt there will be those who this year have not been back to the old home town for months and months—perhaps years. There may be, too, those among you who never have been in New Castle before. While they are "home," light of heart and gay, meeting old acquaintances and making new, show them New Castle as it is today. Tell them what hopes you have for future growth, and ask them, when occasion arises, to say a good word for New Castle.

"Sell" them on the place where you live, work, play and make your money, so that wherever they go they will be emissaries creating prestige, good will, and who can tell, perhaps a new industry, new people, may come of it.

"Sell" them, yes; but do not overdo it. Avoid dangerous optimism and superlatives. Remember there is no such thing as a "best" town. When a town is worst, it's bound to become better, but the community that is best could be no better, and there is no habitat that could not be improved upon.

Again, I say, may New Castle have a most joyful Christmas.

The Pennsylvania railroad has announced that it will erect a Christmas tree at its west side depot. This will be another thing to impress visiting P. S. E. A. delegates when they come.

New Castle hunters were making the most of their deer hunting today. The curtain falls on the 1929 season tonight. Officially the season does not close until the 15th, but since Sunday hunting is illegal, the season will close tonight. Open seasons for bear and elk also close with darkness tonight.

A staff officer of the Pennsylvania railroad department made mention this morning of the growing number of crashes where automobiles run into the sides of passing trains. Of late there have been several. In some cases fog has been laid as the cause, but in others it has been nothing but notable exhibitions of carelessness.

Deaths of the Day

William Schaeffner.

William Schaeffner, aged 63, of 255 West Falls street, a member of one of the older and best known families of the city, died Friday night at 11:30 o'clock at his home after an illness of pneumonia.

Mr. Schaeffner was born in this city, February 20, 1866, the son of Christopher and Amanda King Schaeffner, and had spent his entire life in this city. He had been an employee of Kirk-Hutton and company for twenty-nine years and was widely known and highly respected.

Adding to the sadness occasioned by his death, is the fact that his brother, Joseph Schaeffner, died November 5, 1929, a little over a month ago. He was a member of the Ben Hur Lodge.

He leaves three sisters, Mrs. Mary Harlan, Mrs. John Zeigler and Miss Dorothy Schaeffner. Funeral services will be held Tuesday, December 17, 1929, at 2:30 p. m., from the late residence, 255 West Falls street, with Rev. G. M. Landis, pastor of the First Baptist church, in charge. Interment will be made in Graceland cemetery.

James Goodchild, Sr.

James Goodchild, Sr., aged 73, died at his home, 415 Hillcrest avenue, Friday, December 13, 1929, at 10 p. m. after an illness due to a complication of diseases. He had been an invalid for seven years.

Mr. Goodchild was born in Birmingham, England, May 14, 1856, the son of James and Ann Kinder Goodchild. He had been a resident of this city for 42 years. He was a wire drawer and tool maker by trade.

He was married 53 years ago last July to Elizabeth Baker, who preceded him in death in March of this year.

He is survived by the following children: Mrs. Anna Rigby, Mrs. Elizabeth Gaston, James Goodchild, Jr., Mrs. Helen Maloney and Mrs. Jessie Cochran, all of New Castle; also 17 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. Two sons, Ernest and Arthur Goodchild, preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be held Monday, December 16, at 2 p. m., from the late residence, 415 Hillcrest avenue, with Rev. S. L. Maxwell in charge. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

Mrs. Minnie Shallenberger.

Mrs. Minnie Shallenberger, aged 32, wife of Charles Shallenberger, died at the family home in Chewtown this morning at 6:30 following an illness of eight weeks duration. She was a member of the Chewtown Christian church.

She is survived by her husband, two sons, George H. and Arthur H. at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Furry, of Chewtown; a sister, Mrs. Esther Best, of Ellwood City, and her brothers, Charles Furry of Franklin, Pa., and Harry Furry of Wurtemburg.

Funeral services will be held from the Chewtown Christian church Monday at two p. m., in charge of the Rev. Durbin. Interment will be made in the Slippery Rock cemetery.

Edward Gaskell.

Edward Gaskell, aged 63, of 201 Pattison avenue, died Friday evening after an illness from which he has been suffering since June. He was born in Portway, Co. in October, 1866. He was a painter by occupation.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Anna Reese of 201 Pattison avenue, this city. Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence of his cousin, Miss Blanche Davis, 1028 West Washington street. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

John Cloonan.

John Cloonan, aged 69, former well known resident of this city, died at his home at 1000 1/2 West 10th street, this city, about thirty-five years ago and is known to many of the older residents of the city.

He leaves one sister, Mrs. Bridget McCoy and three nephews, J. J. McCoy, Tom McCoy and John McCoy, all of this city. His sister, Mrs. Bridget McCoy and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McCoy left today to attend the funeral.

Samuel Quigley.

Samuel Quigley, aged 43, died suddenly about noon Friday, December 13, 1929, at his home at Rocky Grove near Franklin, Pa. His wife found him dead in bed when she went to call him for his work. Mr. Quigley and his family had been residents of New Castle for many years, until they moved about two months ago to Rocky Grove. They have many friends here who will regret to learn of the death of Mr. Quigley.

He is survived by his wife; one son, Winfred Quigley of New Castle; his mother, Mrs. P. P. Quigley of Buffalo, N. Y.; one brother, Harry Quigley of the same city; four sisters, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. O. C. Quigley, Mrs. Glenn Cooper, Mrs. James Smith and Mrs. Paul Wilson, all of Buffalo, N. Y., and Mrs. George Johnson of Oakmont, Pa.

Short services will be held at the home at Rocky Grove this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, after which the body will be taken to Oakmont, Pa., where other services will be held Monday at 2:30 p. m. Burial will be made in the Oakmont district.

J. H. Fetterman.

New Castle relatives and friends received word of the sudden death of J. H. Fetterman of Dormont, Pa., contractor and engineer of Pittsburgh, who suddenly died in his office in the Park building, Pittsburgh, Wednesday evening.

Mr. Fetterman is survived by his wife, Elizabeth Davidson Fetterman, and two sons, James D. and J. H. Fetterman, Jr.; a brother, Dr. J. M. Fetterman of Pittsburgh, and two sisters, Mrs. A. B. Smith and Mrs. T. G. McCready of Braddock.

Funeral services were held today and interment made in a Pittsburgh cemetery.

Time of Funeral.

Funeral services will be held for Mrs. Carrie Edwards Monday at 1:30 p. m. at 418 Deer Lane, Rochester, Pa., and the funeral cortege will arrive in Greenwood cemetery about 3:30, when a short service will be held at the grave.

Funeral Of Anthony De Felice.

Funeral services for Anthony De Felice were held from St. Lucia's church Friday afternoon, conducted by Rev. J. Ippolito.

Palbearers were Marcelline Faba, Joe Mingino, Nick Ciazza and Harry Lombardo. Interment was made in St. Lucia's cemetery.

Funeral of Mr. Ella Staff.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ella Staff were held from the Offutt funeral home Friday afternoon at 2:30 in charge of Rev. A. J. Randles. Pallbearers were William E. Edwin E., Edmond E. Harry, David and Robert Marshall. Interment was made in the Greenwood cemetery.

APPOINTMENTS FOR SENATOR GRUNDY ABROUSE INTEREST

portant finance and appropriations committees, will have to wait many years before receiving such assignments.

He now ranks as the senate's newest member and consequently will have to yield to every other member in the body on assignments, because of the seniority rule.

As one Republican leader put it, "Grundy will have to become acclimated to the senate's 'jackasses' before he is eligible for a major committee." The most important post to be awarded by the committee on committees will be the chairmanship of the powerful appropriations committee. This is a position of great importance. Gruffy will go to Senator Wesley L. Jones of Washington under the seniority rule. He already has entered upon his duties.

Creates Vacancy.

The promotion of Jones will create a vacancy in the chairmanship of the senate commerce committee, with its control over shipping, radio and waterway legislation. Senator Hiram Johnson of California will get his chairmanship, being in turn succeeded by either Senator Gould of Maine or Senator Hatfield of West Virginia as chairman of the senate immigration committee.

Latest reports indicated "Young Bob" LaFollette would get the coveted appointment as junior member of the powerful senate finance committee. Similarly, Senator Robinson of Indiana, as anti-world court exponent, will go upon the senate foreign relations committee. The vacancy on the appropriations committee will go either to Senator Johnson or to Senator Steiwer of Oregon. Dozens of lesser assignments also will be made, with Grundy getting the last choice in each instance.

TAX REDUCTION IS ASSURED BY SENATE LEADERS

the regular sums allotted for both purposes by the budget.

The Thomas plan was certain to meet defeat, since administration leaders are committed to using the surplus for tax reduction. They also contended the regular appropriations for good roads and public buildings would take care of all the public work the government can afford at this time.

Couzens Adds Amendment.

An amendment by Senator Couzens, (R) of Michigan, would allow an additional $68,000,000 reduction on the tax on capital losses and gains from 12 1-2 to 10 percent. He would make this slash applicable in 1931 on the gains or losses for the year 1930. In this manner the reduction would not take effect on the outcome of the recent downward trend of prices on the New York stock exchange. It, too, was opposed by administration leaders, and seemed likely to be defeated. A fourth plan, sponsored by Senator Brookhart (R) of Iowa, to grant additional reductions in the corporation tax, applicable to corporations having incomes of $28,000 or less, likewise was opposed by those in charge of the bill. The Brookhart amendment would impose on corporations the regular normal tax and surtax now applied to individual incomes under the $28,000. This would mean a reduction to their taxes from the 11 percent rate, carried in the resolution, to the regular individual income sliding scale ranging from one one-half of one percent to four percent maximum. It undoubtedly will be rejected, because it would class for a slash in taxes far exceeding the limits announced by the treasury.

There were indications the resolution would be adopted sometime during the afternoon. It has the endorsement of both Republican and Democratic leaders.

The higher a man is in grace the lower he will be in his own esteem.—Spurgeon.

WHY WORRY?

Great numbers of women, anxious to please their men folks, will start working themselves into mental and physical exhaustion—and all the time there's no reason for it!

New Parcel Post Trucks Are Used

Old Service Trucks Replaced
With Overhauled Trucks
From Pittsburgh

Four parcel post trucks used by the New Castle post office during the past year were replaced today with four newly overhauled trucks brought here from the Pittsburgh repair shop of the department. Trucks in the service of each office are replaced each year, the old trucks being sent to Pittsburgh where they in turn undergo repairs.

Post office officials here expect to add three more trucks to the regular number about December 17 to care for the extra holiday business. The Christmas trucks will be secured locally.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO PRESENT PROGRAM

U. C. T. AUXILIARY ENJOY "KID" PARTY

Much mystery—which gives zest to real Christmas celebrations—prevents any definite announcement of Monday's program to be presented by the Woman's Club. The attendance is limited to members only, but the program will be given in the auditorium instead of the Sunday school room of the Highland United Presbyterian church.

Instructions are that the members, upon their arrival, shall enter neither the Sunday school room nor the auditorium, but go to the church parlors, where a short business session will be held. Upon signal all will go into the auditorium, where the program will be presented. Mrs. George Fox has charge of the arrangements and the program will be given by her. Assurance is given that the program, as well as being a surprise, will prove delightful and memorable.

Members of the welfare department are requested to meet in the parlors at two o'clock.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the U. C. T. enjoyed a "Kid" Christmas party last evening at the home of Mrs. John Bruce, Morton street with 21 of the members dressed as children making merry over the coming holiday.

Yuletide decorations were used throughout the house and Santa Claus was present to add realism to the party. Six new members were admitted, Mrs. John Atkinson and Mrs. Harold Allen of New Castle, Mrs. Frank McClure, Mrs. Russell Wilson, Mrs. Roy Reese and Mrs. David Means of New Wilmington.

After the visit of Santa Claus and the receiving of gifts the assembly was invited to partake of a delicious menu, prepared by the hostess with Mrs. Paul Burrows and Mrs. Marian Boulden as aids.

The committee who had the arrangements in hand were Mrs. W. C. Eckenrode, Mrs. W. K. Conover and Mrs. W. C. Porter.

W. C. B. Class Meeting

The W. C. B. class of the Wesley M. E. church met Friday evening at the home of Mrs. James Birt, Patterson avenue, for their regular monthly meeting. Mrs. Patterson had charge of the devotionals and this was followed by a program in which Mrs. Wilbert Britton gave a reading, "Boruhallig", and Mrs. Morrison and Mrs. Matthew gave some Christmas readings that were greatly enjoyed.

Officers for the coming year were elected, president, Mrs. Roy Leslie; vice president, Mrs. Will Britton; secretary, Mrs. John Mottinger; treasurer, Mrs. Graham; teacher, Mrs. Will Patterson; social superintendent, Mrs. Britton; chairman of flower committee, Mrs. Barbara Grittie; reporter, Mrs. Levadia Shoff.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Birt, Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Perkins and her daughter Louise.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. W. Patterson and there will be an exchange of "capsule friends". This will be January 9. Mrs. Alice Morgan of Youngstown was a special guest of the class.

Come Join Us Class Meetings

The annual Christmas party of the Come Join Us Class of the Croton Methodist church was held in the P. O. assembly room Thursday evening with thirty members present. A large Christmas tree and exchange of gifts featured the evening.

After a short business session a social time was enjoyed and lunch was served by Mrs. E. A. Crammer, Mrs. Esther Black and Mrs. Collins.

BIRTHDAY OF D. T. NELSON HONORED

Honoring the birthday of her husband David T. Nelson Mrs. Nelson entertained a number of guests Friday evening in their home on West Moody avenue. Forty guests were present.

The pastimes of the evening were bingo and five hundred. Prizes in five hundred were won by Mrs. Sarah Davis of Erie and Claud Humble of Newton Falls, O. Bingo prizes were also awarded.

At a later hour the guests were invited to the dining room where an oyster supper was enjoyed. Tables were attractively decorated in miniature Christmas trees and a birthday cake.

During the evening Mrs. James Humble in behalf of the guests presented Mr. Nelson with a purse.

Mrs. Nelson had as her aides Mrs. David Rennie and Mrs. James Humble.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Halle, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Humble of Newton Falls, O., Mrs. Sarah Davis of Erie.

MOTHER'S CIRCLE HAS CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Mothers' circle of the First Methodist church was delightfully entertained for a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. T. A. Myers, 1315 Albert street, Friday afternoon.

The house was artistically decorated in Christmas greens, candles and other appointments suggestive of the season. There were about 40 members present and a short business session was held to dispose of the transactions on hand after which the guests had their annual exchange of gifts.

A delightful musical program was rendered by Mrs. Harold Infield and four high school boys, Ray Muder, Kenneth Myers, Harry Powell and Oscar Patton, after which delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Hostesses for the day included Mrs. J. E. Davis, Mrs. H. C. Warner, Mrs. Frank Boal and Mrs. J. C. Lechner.

Y. L. B. Class Party

EXTRA FEE FAVORED FOR LOW NUMBER TAGS

COMMISSIONER EYNON of the Motor Vehicles Bureau suggests a change in law in order to permit persons who desire low number or special number license tags to obtain them by offering a premium. He would be willing himself to pay $100 for No. 1, the governor's regular assignment. He cites the practice in Virginia where $20 was charged for these favors.

Although one does not really visualize the commonwealth creating an automobile nobility for the benefit of the highest bidders, the situation is one that the motorists themselves have created and the possibility of capitalizing it for increased revenues deserves further study.

OUR SOCIAL SNOBBERY

The best laugh of the day is on the editor of that ultra-exclusive New York publication, the Social Register.

The editor finds himself—or maybe it's herself—forced to include the name of an ex-chambermaid in this year's volume, which is supposed to list only those who are "exclusive" by reason of their blue blood and the length of their family pedigree.

Adelaide Ingebreten, the former maid in the palatial home of William M. Willock, Sr., who recently eloped with young William M. Willock, Jr., is so included; but there's a catch in it, though, because the names of persons who marry social registerites are in many cases inserted the first year as a matter of record and omitted thereafter.

For this reason, apparently, the name of Gene Tunney fails to appear this year. Tunney was in the Register last year, following his marriage to Polly Lauder. And listed for the first time this year is the name of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who married Anne Morrow.

But regardless of the reason or how long it remains there, the name of Adelaide Ingebreten, the ex-chambermaid, now appears with those of the socially elite in this most haughty director of blue-bloodism. It is listed right alongside the bon ton debs and dowagers.

Apparently, neither the young Mrs. Willock nor her youthful husband gives a rap, as they are still enjoying their honeymoon just as other young couples do. Even the reported threat of dishonor failed to mar their plans or their happiness, they are going serenely on their way regardless of what others say—or do.

Really, we are strong for them. Not one objection has been raised again Miss Ingebreten, except that she was a chambermaid in the Willock household. A girl has just as much right to advance her position in life by a fortunate marriage as a self-made man has to advance his position by battling obstacles and overcoming them. The world doesn't hesitate to hail and acclaim the young man who rises above his station; so why not the young woman?

After all, the marriage of young Willock and Miss Ingebreten is their own business. If she makes him a dutiful wife and he is a dutiful husband, nothing else really matters. And as for Miss Ingebreten having been a chambermaid, it might be well to recall that the original John Jacob Astor was at one time a fur trader who is said to have swapped whisky to the Indians for their pelts. There are also other examples.

After all, a listing in the Social Register means but little. In it, you will find many from high society families whose married life has been anything but happy and finally ended in the divorce courts. If young Willock and his bride are a happy married couple, what difference does it make whether the former maid is in or out of the Social Register?

SO ALL MAY EAT

The farms of the United States produced this year more than eight thousand million dollars' worth of foodstuffs and raw materials for the making of clothing and other necessary articles. That tremendous volume of wealth was literally created; it represented no mere juggling of money or clever bookkeeping to take the appearance of enrichment.

In these astounding achievements of agriculture are found the basis of the prosperity and the greatness of the nation. The assurance of food heartens everyone. Nobody need be hungry. Then all may strive together, each in his peculiar way. The miners may bring forth the ore; the craftsmen may fashion it. Foresters may bring timber, and the builders shape it. All the activities in which civilized peoples busy themselves may go forward to produce the tremendous output and income of our miraculous country because the workers can be fed.

This is the reason that agriculture always has been held in respect in America. The people of the United States know the source of their bread and butter.

Nobody can see a man who is all wrapped up in himself.

Another dismal failure is man's effort to look modest while admitting he was right.

Who Is This Man Nye?

When a senator of the United States assumes a holier-than-thou attitude he should be careful to submit himself to a thorough self-examination. Is he really holier than others who make no such pretensions? Does he come with clean hands?

These questions are of peculiar interest—or should be—to the Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota.

Mr. Nye has been vociferous in pointing the finger of scorn at Pennsylvania. He has posed as a pious-minded statesman above suspicion as to motives, even going so far in his righteous zeal as to challenge the right of the governor of Pennsylvania to appoint a senator not in complete harmony with his own notions.

But who is Nye? What of this man who is rapidly developing into a chronic objector to the credentials of any constitutionally-selected senator who does not satisfy his particular fancy? By what right does Nye above all others assume to pass upon credentials? Well, let's see. A bit of history in order. Last we were accused of bias, we prefer to let the Boston Transcript relate it.

"Opposition to the seating of a senator-designate on any ground whatever comes from Senator Nye with poorer grace than from any other man on the senate floor," says the Transcript, "for he owed his seat originally to a plain defiance of the Constitution."

What of our holier-than-thou friend from the northern Dakota admitted in plain defiance of the Constitution? Why, how can that be? Read on and you shall see.

"His appointment by Governor Sorlie in 1925," continues this well-known and conservative journal of Boston, "was made without authority of law, and so formally reported to the senate by the Committee on Privileges and Elections. Nye, on the other hand, attempted to get in on the ridiculous assumption that he was a 'state officer,' thus coming within the statutory authority of appointment, but the committee made hash of that contention. However, Nye was needed to strengthen the 'progressive' forces and a western Republican group combined with such of the Democrats as placed partisanship above duty, and he squeaked in by the narrow margin of 41 to 39. Had not politics of the worst kind been played by the moral mentors of the senate, he would have been refused admission."

So it would seem that Senator Nye, with his hands foul with the slime of disreputable and thieving politics, instead of constituting himself the guardian of the morals of the senate, should be sitting in the seats of the very humble, and, seeking obscurity, should be thankful that he had not been kicked into the outer darkness.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Warden Lawes, of Sing Sing prison, wise man, says: "I shall let my convicts read in newspapers accounts of the outbreak in the Auburn penitentiary. There will be a good deal of buzzing when they read them. But the effect on their morale of withholding the newspapers would be worse than allowing them to see them."

That's an intelligent man. The czars might be ruling yet had they known enough to let the people know the facts.

Information and discussion supply a great safety valve.

The warden of Auburn prison, captured by convicts in rebellion, said the convicts, of whom many are dead, were made desperate by the knowledge that if they failed, they would surely go to the electric chair. In this case, at least, capital punishment did not deter men from murder.

An "expert" of the Russian government proposes that all babies be taken from their mothers, "immediately after birth," and brought up by the state. He wouldn't even give them time to be weaned.

Somebody should tell that gentleman the difference between mother's milk and other milk.

Also somebody should tell Stalin, Russia's real ruler, that while human beings will stand much regulating, women rule in the end and will not allow their children to be taken from them.

Sparta tried that, although it didn't take unweaned babies from their mothers. Sparta did not live. Ignorance, unfortunately, accompanies the raising of children, in spiritual and in material things.

An able physician says "99 per cent of families are ignorant of the proper care of children."

Nevertheless, an ignorant mother is better for the child than the most scientific and cold blooded government institution.

The Duchess of Athol, who goes to and fro on the earth, and up and down therein, and sits in the House of Commons, asks the imperial government to interfere with frightful cruelties inflicted upon native girls, before marriage and during marriage ceremonies in Africa.

Atrocities committed could not be printed. They are, however, not confined to Africa, or any particular savage race or tribe. The history of human marriage proves it.

In one place in South Africa when a man marries a woman he stands her with the back of her head against a tree and knocks out her two upper middle front teeth to show that she is married and belongs to him, and that's a comparatively mild form of brutality.

Primitive savages are afraid of woman, superstitious about her strange powers, and other things concerning her.

Among certain savages it has even been the custom to compel a girl, before marriage, to consort with four or five men of the tribe, including her future husband, that husband feeling himself inadequate to the occasion.

It will take a long time to uproot those ancient superstitions and brutalities.

Somebody supposed to be an expert says that the United States will manufacture in 1930 1,000,000 fewer automobiles than in 1929.

That prediction, probably mistaken, is not creditable to the people's intelligence.

Many things a family can do without, but no family properly organized, can do without a good automobile.

When one is worn out it should be replaced. When a better automobile appears, and a family can afford a better one, it should be got.

Automobiles mean saving time, consequently longer real life. A man who can "get along without an automobile" is one whose time and life are not worth much.

Former Gov. Smith, who got 15,000,000 votes for president on the Democratic ticket, about twice as many as any other Democrat ever got, makes this interesting announcement:

In the center of the 85-story building, with tower 1,100 feet high, that he is erecting on the site of the old Waldorf-Astoria in New York City, former Gov. Smith plans a mooring mast for Zeppelin airships.

Air passengers will come down from their ships, landing at the corner of Thirty-fourth street and Fifth avenue in a few minutes, instead of coming all the way in from Lakehurst, N. J.

If Gov. Smith puts that through, he will contribute something to transportation progress.

DOING WITHOUT FOOD IS FUN IF YOU CAN EAT WHENEVER YOU CHOOSE

A certain rich bachelor named Bill had a man servant named Jeems, a capacity for philosophy and a bad case of boredom.

"Jeems," said he, "I am fed up. Luxury gives me a pain in the neck. My life is dull and stupid because there is no risk in it. You can't get a kick out of playing if there is no danger of losing. Wealth and security have made life a bore. What shall I do?"

"The solution is simple," said Jeems. "Turn your affairs over to me, clothe yourself in the garments of a working man; provide yourself with five dollars of capital, and disappear. In some other community you can live the simple life, depend upon your own exertions for your bread, endure the tasks and hardships of the poor, and find life a great adventure."

Wonderful idea! Bill adopted it eagerly, shifted his financial responsibilities to the shoulders of Jeems, and one week later was employed by an Irish contractor who called him Fatty and paid him three dollars a day.

The fat quickly disappeared. Bill's hands became hard and his eyes bright, and within a month he was proud of his ability to digest cabbage and manipulate a spade.

"This is the life," said he. "This is real. I earn my bread and my rest. And there is a thrill in knowing I shall get fired if I don't keep a civil tongue in my head and do good work."

Occasionally he heard from Jeems, that all was well, but the old life seemed far away and did not interest him.

One he wrote Jeems a letter, saying, "Wealth is worthless, my boy. It is merely fodder for fat cattle in a stall. I have found the good life and the fine adventure of it gives me a thrill that gladdens every hour. I rejoice in tired muscles and delight in pinching pennies to buy a new pair of shoes."

If only the story could end there. But Alas! one fine morning brought a shocking note from Jeems. "Since you don't care for wealth," it read, "I have turned your holdings into cash and skipped for Paris. Now you can enjoy your great adventure for life."

Bill dropped the note. His face was white, and his knees shook. Stark fear gripped him.

"Merciful heavens," he gasped. "I am ruined."

Local gossip is unique. It never misses anybody, but it never causes a row. Told in any other town, the stories that go the rounds concerning local citizens would result in a few score funerals. But here the people listen delightedly, as they would listen to any good entertainer, and pass the story on, and then in time forget it when a newer and spicier one is told. They never do anything about it. The insulted ones keep silent. There are two possible explanations. Either it is a case of the pot calling the kettle black, and all hear answer back, or else slander has become so common that everybody accepts it as an entertainment to be enjoyed as fairy tales are enjoyed and not taken seriously. Some days ago a man assumed a superior, righteous air and spoke in criticism of boys caught

Davis Wins Wide Response In Pleading For Housewives

Secretary Of Labor Strikes Popular Cord In Suggestion Of Eight-Hour Day And Annual Vacation But Difficulties Are Foreseen

A radio plea by Secretary of Labor Davis that the housewives of the nation, having a real occupation, should be entitled to an eight-hour day and an annual vacation such as the work-er in business or industrial life has, has attracted unusual attention. There are many words of sympathy for women "whose work is never done." Paying tribute to Mr. Davis for the worthy appeal, the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS comments on the fact that "he has only begun to deal with a large problem." "What," for example, it asks, "would he suggest for the wives of farmers, the wives of keepers of small shops, the wives of traders in a modest way?" That paper continues: "It is perfectly true, as Mr. Davis says, that the wife of the wage worker gets little credit beyond her own household for her industry, efficiency and manifold managerial skill. To add up her list of occupations, over her lifetime of health or in time of sickness in the family, is to marvel at her endurance, ingenuity and executive ability. Unquestionably, she is entitled to consideration in all shorter day or shorter week movements, and she deserves an annual vacation 'with pay.' Her husband and also her children, when the latter are old enough, owe it to her and to themselves to take steps to conserve her health and give her suitable pleasures and recreation. A little thoughtfulness, a little practical tenderness, from the family is or would be highly appreciated by the household's general manager. The census bureau, by the way, is guilty of a flagrant bureaucratic blunder in listing housewives as persons 'without occupation.' The protest of the woman's party against that designation is understandable, even though the phrase objected to was intended to imply that housewives had no gainful occupation. No occupation, indeed, and endless and infinitely varied occupation would be much nearer the literal truth of the matter."

The census situation also stirs comment from the HARTFORD DAILY TIMES, which says on this subject: "There can be no denial of the assertion that housewives are not recognized as workers in their work. Nobody seems to take the trouble to count the hours of their day nor evaluate the million and one things which they 'whose work is never done,' accomplish. There is ample basis for the call which has been broadcast by the national vice-chairman of the women's party, Mrs. Florence Bayard Hilles, that in the forthcoming federal census the occupation of housewives be designated in the forms. As it is, they have no 'occupation' so far as the census bureau is concerned. That seems to be a pretty general attitude of governmental procedure on this point, and we are not surprised that the worm has turned. The government is somewhat exclusive in its interpretation of the term 'occupation.' What-ever is done inside the house is not officially recognized if done by the housewife, but let it be done by a maid, nurse, girl, janitor, laundry-woman, social secretary, and it is carefully noted on government records."

"It's high time somebody championed their cause," in the opinion of the HARRISBURG TELEGRAPH. "When labor laws were being enacted, the housewife was let out. No eight hour day for her, no increase in pay; no five-day week or Saturday half-holiday. Nobody ever fights for better working conditions, shorter hours or higher pay for the housewife. When the alarm clock speaks it is she who responds most quickly. While her hard-working hubby turns over for another ten minutes in dreamland, she is putting on the coffee and frying the bacon. While he is reading his paper in the evening, she is putting the children to bed, washing the dishes and getting ready to do a bit of mending."

"Anybody who wonders why Secretary of Labor Davis keeps on in the Cabinet year after year," remarks the WASHINGTON VINDICATOR, "can find the answer in the radio address Mr. Davis made on the greatest, busiest, business executive in the world. The tribute he paid to the workingman's wife, who has to figure and plan to make her husband's pay envelope meet the family's needs and go as far as possible, was only well expressed, but was deserved and should have been said by someone in authority long ago. Coming from the former Sharron iron puddler, himself a devoted husband and the father of six children, Mr. Davis' hearers knew that he spoke with all the weight of personal experience."

Speaking of the proposed vacation the FLINT DAILY JOURNAL raises the question: "What of the husband and children during those two weeks? Is the husband to quit his job in order to run the house during the two weeks his wife is vacationing? Or is he to take his own two weeks vacation by staying home and doing the housework? Well, the argument goes on and on. One thing is certain. Where there are children and a home to maintain there can be no such standardization of working hours. Husbands and wives probably have their troubles over who works the harder, but without one or other or both being 'on the job' twenty-four hours a day, it means the home will not be a home."

"Undoubtedly many housewives are really overburdened," agrees the GRAND RAPIDS PRESS, but that paper holds that "for the majority of the real home makers, a number of these 'jobs'—particularly those having to do with the children—are not regarded as work at all. The problem of America," continues the Press, "is not so much with the woman whose 'business hours' are so occupied. Her lot is far ahead of that of the British woman, for example, who must get along without modern kitchen and cleaning equipment. A more pressing problem in the United States appears to be that of the woman whose week's activities might be tabulated as follows: Monday, bridge; Tuesday, luncheon and bridge; Wednesday, bridge and tea; Thursday, bridge and movie; Friday, bridge club; Saturday, bridge; Sunday, spend the afternoon with the children."

The SPOKANE SPOKESMAN-REVIEW is convinced that "the housewives, if we may call them that, will laugh at Secretary Davis' statement, because they are thoroughly in agreement with the old idea that woman's work is never done." The Spokane paper continues: "If any masculine critic undertakes to find a flaw in that tradition, he is told that he has a mean and cynical outlook on life. If any efficiency expert tries to point out that a housewife can so organize her work as to get it done in less than eight hours a day, he is given an emphatic lecture on Woman, the Toiler. But the secretary means well. He wants to help arrange things so that the eight-hour day, and the Sunday off, and the two weeks' vacation in the summer, will be within the reach of any housewife who desires them. How many really desire them can be accurately guessed. They would destroy a grand old tradition—that of the housewife toiling all day over a hot stove while the husband is resting."

JUST SUGGESTIONS

The Winter Golf season is on. "Winter Golf" to those "shut ins" who cannot go to Florida, California, Biloxi or Pinehurst, is "Freside Golf" and to those "Freside" players, some of whom may be members of the Field Club's House Committee or Green's Committee, the following rules are submitted:

House Rules
1. Any member in the locker room who has a bad set of clubs should bid some other suit.
2. Members found prostrate on the floor from over-playing the nineteenth hole may be lifted without penalty.

3. Local Rule: Ball shot into the ladies' locker room is deemed to be neither out of bounds, unplayable nor in a hazard. The player is deemed to have hit the ball in play.
4. Locker room quarters who sing "Sweet Adeline" off key for more than two hours at a stretch will be exiled to a public course.

5. Any member caught drawing the likeness of a male cow on "Liquor Forbidden" signs shall be expelled for improving a sign.

6. Any member who calls his wife on the clubhouse phone to explain why he's late to dinner will be held responsible if her reply wrecks the phone or melts the wires.

Ground Rules
1. Any member who asks the Pro. to re-shaft a wooden tee shall be expelled for tightness unbecoming a member.

2. Any player who is caught teeing his ball for a putt shall be sentenced to serve three years on the House Committee.

3. If a player fails to gain ten yards in four shots "the ball goes over the fence" and the third shot is always admissible to putt.

4. Penalty for ball out of bounds, loss of distance only. Penalty for two balls out of bounds, loss of distance, temper and religion.

5. Players who make a practice of occupying certain sand traps for whole afternoons must call up and reserve their favorite traps in advance.

Fine Exhibits At Annual Show

Fair Sized Crowd Gather In Westfield Grange To See
Third Annual Show,
Friday

Better exhibits were shown at the third annual farm products show than ever before, according to H. R. McCulloch, Lawrence county farm agent. The show took place in Westfield Grange hall, Friday afternoon and evening. Considering the weather conditions were not at all ideal, quite a large number of people were present.

Prizes which were awarded will be announced from the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension Association in Monday's News. The awards were made at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Starting at 8 o'clock, Friday evening, an interesting program was presented. Included on the program was an egg grading demonstration by H. H. Kauffman and an address on dairy feeding by H. R. McCulloch. Rev. R. M. Haverfield was in charge of the motion pictures. A vocal solo was rendered by Howard Gilmore.

In every detail, the annual products show was a great success.

Coal Found Short; Dealer Pays Fine

Supposed Load Of 1175 Pounds
Is Found To Weigh 625
Pounds When Re-
weighed

When Frank L. Book of East Washington street went to the coal yard of A. Graziani and Sons on the Butler road and ordered a small "jag" of coal, he was not entirely satisfied when a bill for 1175 pounds was presented to him. Book had only wanted a small load for the reason that he expected to be going away and would not need it. However when he surveyed the coal pile and compared it with his bill for 1175 pounds he was not entirely satisfied and communicated with Sealer of Weights and Measures, W. A. Brown. The coal was weighed and it was found that there was only 625 pounds. Brown made an information before Alderman Mantz charging Graziani with short weight. At the hearing which was held yesterday, the defendant admitted that a mistake had been made by the person weighing the coal but claimed it had not been intentional. Defendant was fined $20 and costs, and also directed to pay Book for the difference in the amount of the bill and the coal actually received.

Seniors Elect Performers For Commencement

Rev. C. J. Williamson Chosen
To Deliver Baccalaureate
Sermon In January

Members of the senior class, at a meeting held in the high school, elected the class performers who will take part in the annual exercises in connection with mid-year commencement in January.

Rev. C. J. Williamson, pastor of the Highland U. P. church, was chosen to deliver the baccalaureate sermon, which will be held on the Sunday previous to graduation exercises.

Pittsburgh Robber Is Held For Court

Man Destitute For Money To Buy Food For His Family
Robs Safe Of Cleaning
Company

Francis Yost, 26 of Pittsburgh, was held for court today charged with larceny and entering a building.

Yost, a former employee of the Howard Cleaning company is charged with stealing $75 in cash and $5,000 in stock certificates from the safe of the company. City Detective Edward Dunn testified in central police court today that he had implicated Yost when he found a footprint on the top of the safe which indicated that the thief wore a shoe with a hole in it.

Yost confessed in court, saying that his wife and baby were hungry and he needed the money to buy them food. The certificates were recovered by police. The company refused Yost's offer to return the currency.

When I journey to New York to engage some of your girls for my revues, I shall make it plain that their emolument will be discharged in dollar values and not franc values. A Parisian producer once tried to pay his American girls in francs. They wrecked pretty much of the facade of his theater. Luckily, before the entire building was demolished, he had enough presence of mind to run around to the bank for dollars, one dollar for each franc, and thus ended the rioting.

"Ah, those dear American girls. They are so beautiful and determined! I have no difficulty with them, however, because from Leon Volterra they invariably get what you call the rectangular deal!"

Here's good news for chorines: Leon Volterra, the Old Doc. Ziegfeld of Continental Europe, is about to visit Mazda Lane in quest of "ensemble" talent.

In Europe, in his own particular field, Leon is without a peer. He's all there is, multiplied by two. He operates a string of variety theatres and music halls throughout the continent and is owner of the famous Casino de Paris, the European pace-maker of revue.

Leon is the arbiter in determining the vogue of certain types of fair women. If he takes a notion to pick 'em gracile, they're slimmer that year than a certain politician's chance of heaven.

"I am always in quest of chorus girl material," says Leon. "In France there is no such thing as the professional chorus type. I acquire a bevy of beautiful girls but they do not come from any one class of society. They stay with me not more than one season and invariably marry well, forsaking the stage with an abruptness that is startling."

Bo Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press
NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Nobody in J. P. Morgan's office ever gets a cold. The big white money house on the corner of Wall and Broadway streets, opposite the Stock Exchange, is equipped with triple outside doors. Each door closed behind you before the next one opens. Artificial ventilation is provided, not in such volume as to be discernible, but of sufficient potency to slay any flu germs that the casual visitor might introduce.

The scheme has been such a success in The House of Morgan that they're going to try it on the Stock Exchange.

American singer, is now in New York; but it is extremely doubtful whether she will sing here. She furnishes an example of the American expatriated on artistic grounds.

After successes here in revue and musical comedy as well as an extensive vaudeville tour, Miss White, who hails from the south, went to Europe. In London she was at once acclaimed, singing a type of negro song which she had originated. A composer traveled with her, working out her musical ideas.

Her type of song was gentle, delicate and just the thing an educated Englishman wanted of America. Then foolishly she returned to America. She sang in New York and elsewhere in the country, but the plaudits such as she had received abroad were lacking. Her art had become too gentle, too delicate, too finely shaded for American audiences, who demand raw difference and in real tears Miss White returned to London, where instantly she resumed her own great vogue.

She is one of our few "artistic expatriates."

Speaking of M. Volterra naturally suggests the talented Mistinguett—never spell Micky's dear name with an "e" at the end—who for years was associated with the Casino de Paris, leaving there to go over to the Moulin Rouge.

She is now in retirement, dividing her time between her home in Paris, her estate in Belgium and her place in Spain. It is said she is contemplating another American tour and if she does, don't miss her.

She made a tremendous hit when she was here last. In Washington she did a gross of $60,000 for a single week and played Chicago for four months at grosses never much less than $50,000 a week.

Even today Mistinguett is an "institution." She could return to the Parisian stage over-night and dominate the French capital, so unique is her personality. While her later successes have been in revue, she has played star roles in drama with success. It was she who created the role in "Madame Sans-Gene," the Sardou drama upon which, later, musical versions were based.

Foster's Weather Forecast

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14, 1929.—Winter starts officially on December 22 at 7 hours and 53 minutes Greenwich Civil time; that will be about midnight of the 21st at Spokane and 1:00 a. m. of 22nd at Regina. I will expect the most wintry conditions near and between these two cities at the exact time winter is ushered in, and that wintry conditions will spread eastward in the days following. Moderate storm wave centering on 15 is expected to be a warm storm center, followed by a moderate cold wave centering on 18; temperatures will then be expected to average higher until mild storm wave expected to cross continent during week centering on 23 passes your vicinity. Following storm center of 23 a sharp cold wave is expected to cover the continent. These conditions should cause a cold, stormy white Christmas over most of the continent extending farther south than usual. Precipitation during last ten days of December is expected to average above normal on central and south Atlantic coast and in Gulf states, about normal in eastern Great Central valleys and north Atlantic coast states and provinces, a little below normal in other sections. During following storm center of December 30 precipitation is expected to increase on central and northern Pacific slope and to decrease on North Atlantic coast.

Sun Spots and Weather
My forecasts for last week of November and first week of December were remarkably correct. As forecasted, that was a wintry period, storms were severe, especially on Great Lakes December 1, many ships went down and many still missing; reports show twelve ships that left Nova Scotia during that period that have not been heard from since; the lowest temperatures of record in November were experienced during the last days of November, 1929, in Washington and other places. Dr. J. J. Nassau of the Case School of Applied Science, through the U. P. under date of December 3, says: "A sun spot that can be seen with the unaided eye is now visible. In addition, a group of eight smaller spots has appeared to the left of the large spot and a group of still smaller spots to the left of the first group. Due to the large spot, poor radio reception and magnetic storms affecting telegraph and cable lines may be expected during the next few days, but there is no reason to believe that present cold wave could be blamed on the spot."

I agree with Dr. Nassau as to cause of cold wave. Sun spots do not cause cold weather, but may add to the extremes a cold wave may reach. When Saturn and Earth form a conjunction with the Sun on December 25, I will expect a cold wave to be holding forth in North America; but when Mars and Venus January 9, Saturn and Venus January 10 and Saturn and Mars January 13 form conjunctions with the Sun, causing sun spots to form, I will expect a warm wave to be predominating in North America.

Christmas Shopping Now Really Under Way

With only ten more shopping days until Christmas, the stores are swinging into the hectic days of the annual pre-Christmas rush. From now on the shoppers are out to get their presents and salesmen and salesladies are canceling social engagements.

New Castle stores report a fair volume of business already, but this volume is bound to be increased in the coming week. Several of the industrial plants are releasing a lot of money in pay rolls, the teachers have received a half month's pay to accommodate their Christmas shopping and while like other cities industrial conditions here are not at peak yet the volume of Christmas shopping is fairly large.

Weather conditions today are conducive to shoppers getting down town. Early this afternoon the rain had kept off and the warm days and nights will permit of coming down town with little discomfort.

After today there are just nine shopping days until Christmas. In the nine days the stores of New Castle should experience a very healthy rush for the majority of us like to leave shopping until the last few days. And this in spite of admonitions and warnings from the middle of November on.

Merchants along Washington street report good business today and show a fair volume of business for the past week.

Two Are Injured In Auto Mishaps

Number Of Traffic Accidents
Reported To Police In Last
24 Hours

Motorists reported a number of accidents to the police in the past 24 hours, in which two persons were injured.

Dale Slater, Farrell, Pa., was driving the truck of George W. Boyd and Company on South Mill street at East Lutton street as Kenneth J. Boalick of 727 Court street was en route south on South Mill street, and made a left-hand turn into East Lutton street.

Mr. Slater did not see the Boalick machine in time to stop and to avoid a collision turned into a telephone pole. Clara Angelo, aged 11, of 308 East Lutton street, was standing on the sidewalk near the pole, which was damaged, and in some unknown manner sustained an injury of one foot at the ankle.

The little girl was removed to the

New Castle hospital, where it was found that the injury to her ankle was not serious.

Other Accidents

Richard H. Davis of 210 Holton street was en route west on West Washington street, and making a right-hand turn onto Greenwood avenue, as S. A. Colson, walking from the east to the west side of Greenwood avenue, was struck by the Davis machine.

Mr. Colson was knocked down and sustained no serious injuries. One knee was considerably bumped and bruised.

George W. Finch, 1123 Scioto street, was en route north on South Jefferson street at South street when his machine was in a collision with that bearing Pennsylvania license 369-317. Both machines were damaged.

James Finnegan of 203 Scott street was en route north on South Mill street at the north side of the Mill street bridge, when his machine was in a collision with a car bearing Pennsylvania license C29-502, which was en route north on South street. Considerable damage was done as the machines came together. The car listed as C29-502 was found to belong to Robert G. Shaffer of 322 Harding street.

Cars of E. C. Ruby of 706 Cleveland avenue and Gerald Hammond of 409 Spruce street, almost came together as Ruby was en route north on Spruce street and Mr. Hammond pulled into his garage from the street. Mr. Ruby was crowded into the curb and damaged his machine.

Famous Painting Is Reported Sold

J. Pierpont Morgan Is Reported
To Have Paid $100,000
For Famous Canvas

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The famous Tintoretto painting, "Apollo and Marsyas" was reported to have been purchased today by J. Pierpont Morgan for more than $100,000.

This is understood to be the first important collection purchase to have been made by Morgan, whose father spent more than $300,000 for one of the world's greatest collections. No confirmation of the sale was made by Morgan or the London and New York firm of Thomas Agnew & Sons, former owners of the canvas, but relatives of the financier said the report "might be accurate."

Lady Higham Is Given Divorce

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 14.—Lady Higham, the former Elsie Rowe of Buffalo, N. Y., has been granted a divorce from her husband Sir Charles Higham, English advertising man and publicity expert.

Lady Higham was granted the decree on grounds of misconduct which Sir Charles did not attempt to dispute.

Sir Charles has made frequent visits to the United States on each of which occasions he attracted much attention for his witicism.

Once he called President Coolidge the best dressed man in America. Another time he informed newspapermen that New York liquor was just as good as London's and apparently more plentiful.

Rain measuring four and a half inches fell during a thunderstorm which broke over Kensington, London in 1917 while other parts of the English metropolis were not affected.

Alabaman Refuses Committee Berth, De Priest Reason

Alabama Representative Refuses To Sit On Committee With Negro Congressman

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—There's an unexpected vacancy on the House committee on enrolled bills today because Representative Oscar De Priest (R) of Illinois, only negro member of the House, was assigned a place on it.

Representative Allgood (D) of Alabama, resigned his membership on the committee and frankly gave as his reason the fact that he would not sit with a negro.

"The enrolled bills committee," Allgood said, "is an honorary committee. I cannot serve my district on it and now that the Republican from Chicago has been added to it I do not desire the honor."

De Priest has been assigned to the Indian affairs and invalid pensions committees in addition to that on enrolled bills.

William S. Vare Slowly Improving

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 14.—William S. Vare, Philadelphia G. O. P. leader, continues to improve at his Atlantic City home, according to late reports received here today from the seashore city.

The possibility of a second paralytic stroke appears to be past at present according to Dr. Ellwood R. Kirby. Vare suffered a stroke two years ago that resulted in the almost entire paralysis of his left side.

Dr. Kirby has suggested that the stricken politician go to Florida for a vacation from the many tasks arising out of Vare's decision to be a candidate again for the U. S. senate seat denied him a week ago.

Plans for the distribution of Christmas baskets were discussed at a meeting of the round table, a group of representatives from the various charitable organizations of the city. The members met in the office of the Associated Charities on East street.

Grundy Holds No Animosity

Also Says He'll Resign At Once As Head Of Manufacturers Body

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, D. C. Dec. 14.—In accordance with Senatorial ethics Senator Joseph R. Grundy (R) Pennsylvania, announced today he would resign the two business positions which, carried, him, into National prominence as the "Grand Daddy of all Lobbyists."

He said he would retire as president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association and as vice president of the American Tariff Association and as vice president of the American Tariff League. He has served for 20 years in the former, ever since the association was organized in 1909, while for 15 years he held the latter post.

"I don't want to do anything that will raise a breath of criticism," said Grundy. "I intend to resign both those positions. I feel it would be unfortunate if the State of Pennsylvania were tarred by anything I did which was not according to the Senate's best ethics. Therefore I am giving up these positions."

In a talk with newspapermen Grundy revealed that he had leanings toward the world court on the terms of adherence recently approved by President Hoover. He said he recently had agreed to continue membership in a pro-court organization in Philadelphia.

"I feel rather committed to the court because of the membership," said Grundy. "But I intend to study the question. It is all very new to me."

Asked whether reports were true that he would become a leader in the "Young Turk" movement in the Senate, Grundy replied: "They must be joking. I'm too new here to attempt anything like that. My only plan is to stand by the Republican platform."

"Whose interpretation of that platform?" he was asked. "Borah's or Hoover's or somebody else's?"

"Why I'll follow Grundy's interpretation of it," said Grundy with a smile. "You know I was out at Kansas City and I thought I knew then what the platform meant. I heard it read to the convention and I've heard it expounded on the stump and I've heard it explained in the Senate. But I think I'll follow Grundy's interpretation."

The Pennsylvania has "washed the slate," so far as his Senate critics are concerned. He holds no animosity, he said, toward the Senators who criticized him on the day he was seated.

"All this is water over the dam," Grundy added. "It's in the past. I'm looking ahead."

Veteran British Seaman Is Dead

Admiral Sir Henry Bradwardine
Jackson Dead At Age Of
74, In London House

(International News Service)
LONDON, Dec. 14.—Admiral Sir Henry Bradwardine Jackson, one of Great Britain's most famous leaders of the sea, died today at the age of 74.

During the early part of the world war he served as first lord of the admiralty and later served as first and principal naval aide de camp to his majesty, King George.

He served in numerous important naval posts from the time he entered the service in 1868 until he retired in 1924. During that time he won many honors and citations and was instrumental in effecting many changes in design and equipment which kept Great Britain's navy at its lofty pinnacle.

MOSCOW, Dec. 14.—Peace negotiations between China and Soviet Russia were resumed at Habarovsk today when General Tsai, principal Chinese delegate and two aides arrived to confer with M. Simanovsky.

Ice Racketeers Are Blamed For Bombing

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Police blamed ice racketeers for planting a powerful bomb which blasted away the rear of a $75,000 residence in Eastchester early today. The intended victims, Felix D'Alessandro and his wife and two daughters escaped. D'Alessandro is a wholesale ice dealer. Eight murders within the last year have been laid to the ice racketeers by authorities.

MEETINGS END

Unique Sentence Given Youth For Stealing Of Auto

William J. Jones, 22, Must Write Court Letter Each Sunday For Five Years

(International News Service) WILMINGTON, Del., Dec. 14.—Two hundred sixty letters—one to be written each Sunday for the next five years—was the unique sentence meted out here in the United States district court by Judge Hugh Norris to William J. Jones, 22-year-old Port Washington, L. I., youth for his admitted guilt in transporting a stolen automobile from one state into another.

Judge Norris paroled the youth to himself, stipulating that he must take time each Sunday for five years to write the court a letter giving an account of his occupation, hopes and ambitions. Failure to write even a single one of the "Sunday epistles" would result in the court ordering his re-arrest and imprisonment in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., for a term of three years, Judge Norris warned the youth.

Jones formerly lived in Birmingham, Ala. He admitted the auto had been stolen from O. W. Ramsey, Raleigh, N. C.

Louis Stearles, his companion on the northward trip, a Canadian by birth, pleaded not guilty to the larceny charge and was sentenced to three months in Atlanta prison for evasion of the United States immigration laws.

Issue Trade School Honor Roll Report

Peter's Adventures

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

FAMILY SECRETS

Tiger Beetle tossed his head and threw out his chest. Peter could see he liked to be spokesman.

"Notice our heads!" said Tiger Beetle, and bowed his head before Peter. "They are exactly the color of the ground. When we are hungry we leave our underground rooms and take our places at the open door. We cover the opening with our heads, so that the passer by can't see us. When he comes near us we grab him, hold him in a vise—our own jaws, you know—pull him into our hole and eat him up! Do you want to see how we do it?"

"Here, son, into the hole with you, show the stranger how we fool people."

A small beetle dropped into the opening and in the twinkling of an eye Peter could see nothing but the ground where the hole had been.

"He has put his head against the opening and is blocking it up!" explained spokesman Tiger Beetle. "Now you," and he pointed to another in the circle, "open your jaws and show boy the trap we set."

The fellow obeyed and Peter, who had moved close to him, jumped back, startled at the sharp teeth and the cruel jaws which made him think of a spring trap, that might come together at any second. He didn't want to be in the way when it did. The Tiger Beetles smiled broadly at Peter's fright, but said nothing. Peter was ashamed, but not too ashamed to ask one more question.

"How do you keep your head in the hole?" said he. "I should think you would get tired and drop down."

"We might if we were not anchored firmly to the ground by these two hooks," replied the other, and he turned around and showed Peter the bump on his back where they were. Suddenly the beetle who had been "giving away" family secrets, waved his claw and his voice shook with excitement.

"Hurrah! Here comes Mother, and she is running away from something, too. I wonder what she will say when she finds us all out of our holes. I for one am going back in mine. I don't want to be scolded. I can tell you, but the rest of you can do as you like." Quick as a wink in popped the little creature. Then all the others followed suit, and Peter and Biffer were left alone in the path, down which was coming Mother Beetle at full speed.

Next: "Here Comes the Monster Man."

STOCK MARKET DISASTER

Yesterday a millionaire he thought himself to be. Today he humbly walks the streets along with you and me. And all that happened over night to change his fortune so. A boy before a blackboard altered numbers in a row. And where was written 59 appeared the figure 10. 'Tis curious what little things affect the lives of men!

He thought himself a millionaire; today his house was sold. To pay for those securities he found he couldn't hold.

And sitting in a smoky room where mad men raved and roared. He dumbly watched a youthful clerk write numbers on a board. And when a certain 59 was changed to number 10. The millionaire of yesterday was penniless again.

Oh, what a curious life we live! How strangely we are swayed; By what unusual events are fortunes lost and made! Secure he was the day before, erect and proud and strong. And now a creature of despair the street he walks along.

They say the brokers closed him out and took away his hoard. Because a youthful clerk had changed the figures on a board. (Copyright, 1929, Edgar A. Guest)

Many Vehicles Junked In State

Titles To 65,870 Automobiles Withdrawn Bureau Of Motor Vehicles Advises (International News Service) HARRISBURG, Dec. 14.—From Jan. 1 to Nov. 7, 1929, the bureau of motor vehicles, the titles of 65,870 motor vehicles were junked.

The number includes 1,321 motor cars for which junk certificates were issued. Under the provisions of the motor code junk certificates are issued to owners who sell a motor vehicle as scrap and a certificate of title may not be issued for such a vehicle.

The motor code provides that owners of motor vehicles within ten days shall notify the bureau of the destruction or junking of a motor car or truck and return the certificate of title to the department for cancellation of record.

For reasons other than junking, the titles of 20,824 motor vehicles were canceled during the period mentioned.

During the recent compulsory inspection period official inspection stations throughout Pennsylvania refused to approve approximately 3,000 cars and trucks submitted for examination. Mechanically these vehicles were unfit for operation.

The bureau of motor vehicles, Commissioner Benjamin G. Eynon said to-

How to Get 15 Per Cent Interest

The Story is This:—

Mrs. A. buys an article for $75.00 on "installments" payable monthly, because it is so "easy" to pay that way, having a year to pay for it.

Mrs. B. prefers to pay cash and instead of buying now opens an account at the DOLLAR SAVINGS ASSOCIATION, paying $1.50 per week for 50 weeks and gets interest on her money.

She then takes her check which she gets at the end of the 50 weeks and makes her purchase, and because she pays cash she gets a discount of $7.50.

This saving plus the interest on her savings nets her over 15% interest.

Result—Thrifty Mrs. B. has $8.35 extra to spend while Mrs. A. has none.

Thrifty folks save their money with us and get 5% interest on their money.

President Chiang Retains His Power, Observers Believe

Opinion In Far-East Is That President Chiang Has Weathered
New Serious Crisis

(International News Service)
SHANGHAI, Dec. 14.—President Chiang Kai Shek has successfully weathered another serious crisis and appears to have strengthened his position at the head of the Nanking government, observers of far eastern affairs believed today in the light of the events of the past week.

Reports from the interior stated that the rebels everywhere were badly disorganized, that normal conditions were being quickly restored in the important cities which had been affected by the revolt.

Chiang's position was materially strengthened by the declaration of loyalty made by General Yen Shi-Shan, governor of Shanghai. General Yen had previously been reported supporting the powerful military combination of rebels.

General Shih Yu-Shuan, leader of the Pukow rebels who threatened Nanking, also has given in to the nationalist government, having declared that he was holding himself and his troops at Pongou awaiting judgment and punishment.

As a result, the Nanking government is confident of suppressing General Pang Seng-Chi whose troops had attempted to gain control of Hankow in order to install Wang Ching-Wei, left leader who has just returned to China, as president.

Hazelwood Man Is Suicide Victim In Leap From Window

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14.—James L. French, 25, a machinist of Hazelwood today leaped from the second story of an alleged speakeasy here to the pavement below, dying almost instantly.

French was among the patrons of the place last night when it was raided by federal agents. French asked permission to go to the washroom. Agents granted him his request. Just as the federal agents were prepared to leave the place a patrolman entered and told them there was a dead man in the alley at the rear of the alleged speakeasy. Investigation showed him to be French.

Social Studies Exhibit For State Convention

Another exhibit at the Senior high school in connection with the state convention of the Educational Association, on December 26 and 27, will be the social studies exhibit, with Helen Maxwell as chairman.

In this exhibit the children of the first six grades have had an opportunity to express their ideas gained from subject matter content in history through the medium of clay, plasticine, paints and crayons, as well as scissors, sewing materials and carpenter's tools.

Many crude materials have been brought from home to use with our school supplies.

Merchants have been very generous in supplying our cardboard cartons and wooden boxes used in the construction of our city. The subject matter of home activities, city activities, furnished the children with the ideas which they carried out with these materials.

This miniature city is a floor project and the buildings found here have been made by the children in various primary grades of all the schools. One will find many houses, gas station, railroad station, grocery store, dry goods store, restaurant, church, school, fire department, and recreation park.

Dolls, which the children identify with the people of this city have been dressed according to the various occupations followed.

We have not neglected the aesthetic development of our city, for the children have provided flowers, trees, shrubs and various other things.

Wagons, autos, and trucks have also been made.

A complete project for the floor has been made about Wag and Puff bringing out the home features that need to be considered for their comfort. Our holidays and important early historical events have been expressed in sequences. These will be found on cardboard mounts and craft paper friezes done in cut and torn paper.

One will be greeted with our early pioneer Daniel Boone and his frontier home in the form of a table project. Development of different kinds of homes man has had; the Tournament of Crusade Times, Betsy Ross and her Flag, the Early Virginia Settlement, the Trojans, and a Civic Feature will be table projects.

A tapestry has been very cleverly worked out on "The Development of Transportation" as well as some tapestry curtains used for Puppet Shows portraying the story to be acted. "Development of Weapons" has been developed in wood and plasticine. There will be route maps, relief maps, history booklets, and cross word puzzles depicting the phases of the various important outstanding events in the history work of the primary and intermediate grades.

Indoor School For Golf Is Opened

Capt. Smith Says Golfers Can Play During Winter Months

The time has come according to Captain V. Arthur Smith, the well known golf professional of the New Castle Field club when the man or woman who indulges in the pastime of golf, either as a matter of health or of competitive skill need no longer give up the game because the outdoor season is over on account of weather conditions.

The winter pastime of indoor golf has become quite the thing and gives the enthusiast in the game the opportunity of not only keeping in proper form but also in good physical condition.

Captain Smith to further this winter sport has opened his Indoor Golf school at 102½ East Washington street where the golf enthusiast may learn the game or if already proficient in the game may keep in practice and good form. He has a net up for those who are learning and one for those who desire to display a full course.

There is considerable interest in the effort of Captain Smith as the number of followers of the sport is increasing here by leaps and bounds as a result of the opening of the municipal golf course and it will not be long according to Captain Smith until New Castle will have a very large group of golfers some of whom may add to the fame of the community by their efforts in public competitions.

Chicago Pair Held For Violations Of Volstead Measure

William Payne, Reputed Head
Of "Reform League" Faces
Stiff Sentence

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—William Payne, president of a reputed reform organization here, today faces a two-year penitentiary sentence and a fine of $10,000 after he was found guilty of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act.

Hubert P. Delaney, former court bailiff, also was found guilty of the same charge yesterday. He faces a five-year term in addition to the $10,000 fine.

State's witnesses during the trial described Payne's law and order league as a racketeering organization maintaining an outward stand for law enforcement, but actually forcing saloonkeepers to buy liquor from designated beer peddling gangs.

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Dec. 14.—The Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of Pennsylvania and the Masonic jurisdiction at Philadelphia today had been named beneficiaries under the will of Mrs. Virginia A. McKee of Pittsburgh, which was filed here and the estate distributed by a decree of the Orphans court.

The decree fixed $822,577.74 as the amount bequeathed the Masonic organization for the erection of a stone memorial cottage at Elizabethtown, Pa.

Most of the balance of the McKee estate of $2,627,545 was left to charity and for the poor of Pittsburgh.

"Kid" Bandits Rob Gas Station Man

(International News Service) UNIONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 14.—Flashing heavy revolvers, two "kid" bandits late last night held up Donald Hixon, attendant at the Meritol gasoline station, east of here, on the National Pike, and robbed the cash register of about $75.

The youths, described as being about 14 and 17 years old, escaped in a machine.

The elder boy held his gun on Hixon while his companion rifled the register. They were unmolested by cars passing along the highway 20 feet away.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Banquet Event In Christian Church Very Successful

Young People Have Annual Banquet; Other News Notes Of Seventh Ward

Friday evening the Madison Avenue Christian church was the scene of a special occasion, when the young people of the church held their fifth annual banquet.

The dinner was served at 6:45 in the church dining room. Tables were attractive, being decorated in Christmas suggestions, miniature Christmas trees and tall red tapers. A fine crowd was in attendance and an elaborate menu was enjoyed.

Pep singing was a feature during the dinner. Rev. S. B. Copeland, pastor of the Third U. P. church, was present and gave a short address which was enjoyed. Other features of the program were a reading by Vera Walters and three poems presented by Rev. W. W. Sniff, pastor of the Christian church.

These were interspersed with selections by W. C. Matthews on his musical saw. At the conclusion of the dinner and this part of the program the group adjourned to the auditorium of the church where the program was continued. Here there was a vocal duet by Mrs. Elizabeth Layton and Miss Helen Wilson followed by a half hour's entertainment by Sol Davis and his daughter Miss Virginia Davis with magic. This demonstration was very fine and greatly enjoyed. A number of young people not at the banquet came in for this part of the program.

This was the fifth young people's banquet to be held in this church during the past five years. These events have always been very enjoyable occasions for the young people and have been very successful.

The dinner was prepared and served by a number of ladies of the church, namely, Mrs. J. W. Jones, Mrs. J. B. Bumbaugh, Mrs. Charles Hammond, Mrs. S. F. Turk, Mrs. C. J. H. McHattie, Mrs. T. C. McCracken and Mrs. S. E. Park.

Pumpkin pies for the dinner were donated by Mrs. G. A. Dibley, Mrs. E. A. Jones, Mrs. H. M. Fulton, Mrs. A. S. Eberhart, Mrs. J. B. Moore, Mrs. J. M. Bevan and Mrs. I. D. Wagner.

The banquet was considered very successful and a most enjoyable evening was had by all present.

SERMON TOPICS
At the morning church service in the Madison Avenue Christian church Sunday the pastor, Rev. W. W. Sniff, will give a story sermon, it being the third Sunday of the month. At the evening service the theme is "The Seven Wonders of the Ancient World and Other Wonders." Miss Pay Turk will lead the young people's meeting.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

A girl who signs herself L. R. jumps upon my shivering frame this morning about my favorite topic—breach of promise. She ridicules this "dear friendship stuff," which she says "men pull" after they court a girl for years and she expects to marry them. She says: "Woman's best assets are youth and marriage between 20 and 30."

"If a man wastes five of those years he is wasting her capital and should pay up," says the lady. Thereby tipping her hand so that you can see all her cards.

"Women," she goes on, "cannot afford to ignore the economic factor in their lives! Men were meant to support women, but they seem to want all of the pleasures without any economic responsibilities."

Yes indeed! And isn't that exactly what Miss R. is asking for herself?

Hear her further: "A woman has to do a man or be done by him. The only way to hurt him is through his pocketbook."

So that's why they sue!

Miss R. doesn't make any secret of the fact that she only wants to hurt men and get their money, which is not the way to lasso any male who is not deaf dumb and blind.

It would be interesting to hear how Miss R. turns out. She or any other woman, who thinks that men are pack-horses, that marriage is an economic asset, that men are made to slave for women, and that men can be hurt only through their pocketbooks. With that attitude she's pretty sure of a very rough deal.

A woman who counts her courting years as wasted if she doesn't land an "economic necessity," wouldn't make any man a good wife. I'm still unsold on the idea that men should pay for women's mistakes. We all pay for our own. Women who want to live without working and who are willing to take money from men who do not love them in order to do it, are the reason that the divorce courts play to packed houses.

I am still waiting to be convinced that if a man courts a girl he has to take or pay her gobs of money, whether he wants her or not, but if a girl changes her mind she can put a man back where she found him and it's perfectly fair, no matter how he feels about it.

I got ten letters this morning on this subject, all from women and all believing in breach of promise suits. No wonder there are more bachelors every year.

I'd like to hear from some women who do not believe in breach of promise suits.

Grove City To Get Connecting Road

Bids Will Be Opened On Stretch Connect With Sandy Lake On December 20

GROVE CITY, Dec. 14.—The glad news that the contract for completion of the Grove City-Sandy Lake road will be opened December 20, was welcomed by the people of Grove City and persons which the road will help in raising out of the mud. This road has been sought for years.

The road will be twenty feet in width and will connect with the concrete road already built at the Millbrook Junction. It will make a much shorter distance for travelers from Erie to Pittsburgh and will divert much traffic through Grove City.

SEALS SELL WELL

Mrs. O. H. Firm, general chairman of the Christmas Seal sale in Grove City, is well pleased with the response that is being given this worthy cause. The amount this year was set at $600 and it is expected that this goal will be reached if the sales continue. The sale started November 29th and will close Christmas.

MAIL INCREASES

Mail is increasing daily in the local post office and within the next week the Christmas rush will be at its peak with every member of the Grove City post office force working their limit to get the in-coming mail taken care of.

ANNUAL PARTY

Grove College girls are holding their annual Christmas party at the Colonial, Saturday evening, Dec. 14. All students of the college are invited to attend. A fine entertainment has been planned for the evening.

HUMAN ADAPTABILITY

H. W. Corbett, architect, who gave London an American skyscraper, says that in twenty or thirty years New York will not be served or satisfied with 100 story buildings, but will demand something bigger, more adequate. Another American architect, William Delano, says builders are being crushed by monsters of their own creation. He finds skyscrapers contribute to the monotony and drabness of living, taking away from life beauty and art.

One wonders how far the human being can go in adapting himself to conditions which are so far removed from nature and the simple life. We can not believe that man was meant to live naturally and happily amid conditions so artificial that they bear almost no relation to the normal life of a hundred years ago. Is it not possible that some day mankind will rebel against the very engines he has created and declare himself free? Will not the time come when he will say: this far I have come and I will go no further?

MAINE GOES TO THE PEOPLE

They are doing a sensible thing in Maine. Instead of a few delegates imposing laws on all the inhabitants of the state, a commission named by the governor is going to the people to find out just what it is the people want in the way of new law if any. After all, the people can have what they want. The problem is to furnish them a simple and adequate means of expression.

A questionnaire is being drawn up containing such queries as these: "Do you favor a revision of the present Sunday law? Would you favor professional baseball Sunday after 1 p. m.?" "Would you favor general outdoor recreation, such as swimming, hiking, snowshoeing, boating, golf, fishing?" "Would you favor amateur baseball Sundays after 1 p. m.?"

There is a referendum law in many states and it is not used enough. After all, law is what the people will stand for. Let's see what they want.

FEARING THE BOSS

An experiment in one of the plants of the Western Electric Co. results in the conclusion that the relationship between the worker and his boss is likely to be the greatest obstacle in the way of the welfare of both the worker and the corporation. Efficiency on the part of the worker is cut down by fear of contact with the boss, by fear of a "bawling out." Men do not do their best and most loyal work when they are kept sitting on the edge of the anxious seat. Today, in one plant, subordinate supervisors are being given special training to teach them that their relations with the people under them must be so kindly as not to inspire fear and consequent inefficiency. This must rank as one of the most important of modern industrial experiments.

If you are afraid of the boss, you will never get another job. You will never do very well in this one.

ARTHUR KIRKBRIDE HONORED IN ERIE

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 14.—Arthur D. Kirkbride, formerly of New Wilmington, now of Erie, Pa., has been chosen baritone in the quartette of the First Presbyterian church of that city.

During his residence in New Wilmington, Mr. Kirkbride took an active part in musical organizations, and was a member of the choir of the United Presbyterian church.

He is now employed as a bond salesman in Erie. He is a son of the Rev. Dr. S. A. Kirkbride, well-known in ministerial circles.

Bedridden Six Months

I Am Now Doing My Own Housework.

I was all run down with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart (often getting black in the face and thought to be dying), and for six months I was confined to my bed. A relative of mine who had been troubled with female weakness and nervous prostration and had been cured by Thompson's Barosma, recommended it to me. I began to take the Barosma at once and was not only cured of nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart, but began to gain back my flesh, and from that time on until now have been perfectly well, doing my own housework.—Mrs. Ely M. Marsh, Titusville, Pa.

When constipation is present Golden Lax Tablets (25 and 50 cents) should always be taken. Thompson's Barosma $1.00 for sale at all drug stores.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Davis have returned home after spending a couple of days with relatives at Pittsburgh. Miss Ida Mae Beale is spending the week-end with relatives at Pittsburgh.

On returning from the hunting trips Frank Beale brought home a black bear. Archie Shoup a deer, Joe Mehocic a deer, John Scargaline a deer and there are several of the men still out.

The Wynona chapter met for its holiday meeting at the home of Mrs. James Weisen, who had the house decorated very appropriately. Those present were Mrs. R. R. Throop, Mrs. P. W. Griffin, Mrs. R. H. Kerr, Hilda Lago, Ruth Hultz, Geraldine Davis, Lois O'Neil, Florence Swanson, Margaret Carlson, Helen McLennan, Mae Beale, Ruth Kerr, Margaret Rice, Lorene Niece, Hilda Grabill, Nellie Chaney and the hostess. An exchange of many beautiful presents was enjoyed. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess. The January meeting will be held at the home of Miss Ida Mae Beale on Jan. 16, 1931.

The Ladies Missionary society met at the home of Mrs. D. B. Beale on Thursday afternoon at 2:30. Those present were Mrs. W. J. Engle, Mrs. J. L. Carlson, Mrs. C. A. Nelson, Mrs. Roy DeArment, Mrs. Charles Hovis, Mrs. J. B. Kerr, Mrs. D. C. McKee, Mrs. R. R. Throop, Mrs. S. M. Ruehle, Miss Anna Dite and the hostess. Mrs. McKee gave a very interesting talk on the study book, "From Jerusalem to Jerusalem."

The Christmas program for the Sunday school is being prepared. Practices have been called for this past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde White of near Edinburg spent Sunday evening with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. White.

A large number of folks from Bessemer attended the chicken supper at Hillsville in the Methodist Episcopal church on Thursday evening. A very good dinner was served by the ladies of the church.

The services of the First Presbyterian church for Sunday, December 15 are as follows: Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Morning worship at 11 o'clock Christian Endeavor at 6:30 p. m. leader, Lorene Niece. Evening service at 7:30. W. J. Engle, pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Johnson spent Sunday afternoon with Miss Mary Labor of East Palestine.

Miss Alma Percic of Youngstown spent Wednesday with her parents, William Sturdy of Youngstown spent Wednesday evening in town.

At that, I reckon no candidate for the 'graveyard' ever tried a more foolish stunt than disputin' the right o' way of a big bus or trolley car.

Dispositions Of Congressmen Are Ruined By Tariff

Spirit Of Friendly Rivalry Turns To Hatred Over Revision Measure

Senate Chamber No Longer Bears Earmarks Of Clubroom—Legislation Lags

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington News Correspondent
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 14.—Down here in the Capital City it is difficult to convince observers that tariff bills aren't nasty things to handle, and the results of the revision measure now before Congress hasn't done anything to soften this suspicion of such legislation.

Tariff bills are dangerous. They turn things upside down. Administrations overturned. Friendships broken. Senators fighting like youngsters in an alley with mudballs and stones.

Kick shins, pull hair or bite ears—anything seems to be fair when a tariff scrap is on. And, as Royal S. Copeland, New York's physician-senator says, it drives members of Congress to the point where they are mentally and physically not themselves.

Dispute Pugilistic
Gone to a great extent is the friendly spirit of rivalry that used to linger about the Senate chamber. And apparent instead is that "step-around-the-corner-and-I'll-slap-you" air of the injured southern gentleman, exemplified to a nicety by Senator Cole Blease of South Carolina.

Senator Blease is never satisfied to present an unsupported controversial assertion. He follows himself up by inviting any senator who differs with him to drop his cloak of immunity and put up his fists.

In days gone by, according to old-time correspondents, the Senate chamber bore all the marks of a clubroom. It was a place to come for pleasant arguments to display adroitness in language, to talk things over, do a little logrolling, and to accomplish more legislation in six weeks than the present surly Senate has accomplished in 10 months.

It used to be that logrolling was a pleasing game to be played by everyone. Senators could get together, make promises, pull in unity for one piece of legislation, and when this was passed, reach an agreement about the next measure and pass or kill it without undue delay.

Friendships Broken
But the tariff bill seems to be antagonistic to logrolling and peace of mind, and in the present instance it has nurtured personal animosity, provoked unjustified speeches and investigations, and completely destroyed any atmosphere of friendliness that might have found refuge in the Senate chamber.

The Senate, in fact, during the consideration of tariff revision, seems to be governed by an entirely unique set of regulations which would never be tolerated in the usually serene procedure of that body on ordinary legislation.

Such spectacles as the Senate censuring one of its members by public ballot, of regular Republicans deserting their leader in outright rebellion, of old steersmen being pushed into the discard by freshmen, and the like, are not common of the Senate and dignified Senate. But they seem to accompany the tariff.

And the dignity of the New England delegation hasn't been spared by this tariff monster.

Courtesy Lacking
In this picture of general disorder is the spectacle of Senator Bingham of Connecticut being cross-examined by a committee of senators who cast aside all pretense of courtesy. And later comes the action of the Senate in voting a public condemnation of Bingham for methods contrary to senatorial ethics, while Senator Gillett of Massachusetts pleads with senators to refrain from approving the censure and Senator Gould, power magnate from Maine, stands up and tells the Senate he approves of what Bingham "done" and how he "done" it.

Then comes the moment in the Senate chamber when a certain group of Republicans, including Walcott of Connecticut, Hobart of Rhode Island, Metcalf of the same state, and Gillett of Massachusetts deserted the acting Republican leader and voted against adjournment after the Republican steersman, acting under an understanding that the Republicans would support him, had promised the Democrats adjournment would be approved.

New England Split
Comes Senator Moses of New Hampshire into affairs with his "wild jackass" assertion, and Senator Metcalf promptly breaks with his New England colleagues by writing a letter suggesting that Moses be kept out of Rhode Island during the campaign next year. Reports have it that certain western progressives beheld an opportunity to split the New England delegation and engineered the letter written by Metcalf.

Senator Watson, Republican floor leader, seems to grasp the situation when he describes the Senate as being in a "mess".

Perhaps, after the tariff bill has been passed, some of the former atmosphere of good fellowship will return to the Senate chamber. But again, perhaps the effects of the tariff bill will linger on, for it will be recalled that the Payne-Aldrich bill passed in a special session called in 1909 by a new president completely upsent an administration.

Two Hanged In San Quentin On "Hoodoo" Day

Friday The Thirteenth Sees End Of Two Convicted Prisoners In California

(International News Service)
SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., Dec. 14.—Two men paid the supreme penalty on the gallows here on Friday, the thirteenth.

With prison plans abandoned at the last minute for a double execution, the two men, George Costello and Antonio Negra, climbed the steps leading to the gallows separately, 25 minutes intervening between the executions.

Costello, convicted of slaying an Oakland bank teller in a holdup, was hanged at 10:03 and pronounced dead 15 minutes later.

Negra, convicted of having slain his brother-in-law and ranch partner, slipped through the trap at 10:28 and was pronounced dead 12 minutes later. Because of the recent prison riots, Warden Holohan took unusual precautions to guard against any disturbance during the hangings but no riotous passed off without incident.

Highland Church To Hear Missionary

The Board of Foreign Missions of the United Presbyterian church is sending its missionaries to different portions of the church to inform the membership of the splendid work being done on its five fields, India, Egypt, the Sudan and Abyssinia.

The Beaver Valley Presbyterian is one of the parts of the church selected, and on Sabbath morning, Dr. W. H. Reed of Egypt will speak in Highland church, and in the evening in Mt. Jackson Church. Dr. Reed has been on the Egyptian mission field for more than thirty years and is counted one of the most successful missionaries there. The pastor of Highland Church was closely associated with Dr. Reed during his three years in Egypt and feels specially pleased that he is the missionary to be sent to New Castle. No appeal will be made for funds, the purpose of the visit being only to acquaint the church with the progress made in Egypt, a nation in which many political changes have been made in a quarter of a century as in any country of the world. Dr. Reed is an enthusiast and presents his cause well. The service in Highland church is at 11 o'clock, and at Mt. Jackson at 8 p. m.

Its age is a private matter

It is very difficult to discover, by its appearance, how old a Lincoln is. Lincoln believes in making automobiles so beautiful that they are always modern and so durable that they simply won't wear out. The age of a Lincoln is no one's concern—least of all its owner's. On the boulevards a Lincoln of last season and the newest model share honors equally with Lincolns years older than either.

So fine is this car that a year or so of use does not perceptibly detract from any of its splendid qualities. Lincoln owners are often men who can, and do, provide the best professional care for their cars. Sometimes such well-kept cars are available at very attractive prices from Lincoln dealers. The wisdom of investing in such a motor car is quite evident, and shrewd buyers are quick to take advantage of the opportunity.

A few such Lincolns are now to be seen on our floor. Every one is in perfect mechanical condition. We are always glad to demonstrate them to you, without the slightest obligation. Drop in today.

THE LINCOLN

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Putting Our Little Children On The Rack

We are curious and concerned about the conduct of our adolescent children in our absence. But when they are away from us we do not, of course, see and hear what they do. We see to think we ought to know and often fool ourselves into believing that we can find out. Accordingly we are tempted to inquire eternally of the child about what he did or did not do out of our sight and hearing.

Tonight many thousand parents will be sitting up, or lying awake until their adolescent child comes home, for no other reason, probably, than to have the child report on his evening activities and conduct.

"Where were you, Claud? Who else was there? What went on? Tell me all about it. Did the girls smoke? Did anybody drink? Did you take a girl home? Was she fit to be with you? Did you treat her properly?"

"Jean who brought you home? Is he a nice boy? Did you dance with him? Do you ever smoke when you are out? I hope you were not necking. Do any of the other boys and girls do such foolish things? Look here, Jean, whenever you see things happening which are not right, I want you to come right home. You don't do things you should not do; do you dear?"

As such questions are asked on the child's return, on the morning, or at other times there often is cross questioning and continuous suggestions of doubt in the tone and words of the inquirer.

A child so treated soon learns to reply with great caution and to make the answer that will be acceptable; he learns is even forced to practice deceit.

Of course, for suppose that Claud had answered that he had some liquor or that he had engaged in some activity which his mother strongly disapproved. Supposed Jean responded with some facts that shocked her mother. You know what happened. The child right then and there was disapproved or severely scolded or punished in some other way.

You and I were youngsters once. We know what we would have done in such an instance. We would have resolved to be more cautious in answering. If to lie were more convenient, the urge to do so would have been overwhelming, since we could be pretty sure the truth would not be given but through us.

One thing is very certain; we would not be very liberal with volunteering information about our conduct away from home; we could not take the parent into our close confidence. We even might avoid him, our affection and esteem for him growing less and less. And then what?

Let us parents not be busybodies. Let us not be prosecuting lawyers and detectives. Let us not inquire into our child's behavior in our absence, but to share socially with him in our enjoyments. How difficult it is to live up to such a standard, any parent who has tried it knows. Nevertheless, it pays.

Tomorrow: Childhood Sorrows.

Would Let Farmers Manufacture Wine

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—Declaring the Farmers' troubles are due to national prohibition, Rep. Black (D) of New York, Friday introduced a bill to aid agriculture by permitting farm cooperatives to make wine, beer and industrial alcohol. This, Black said, would provide a market for millions of bushels of grain each year.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

The Story Of The Panama Canal
Part 6—The Failure Of The French At Panama

LESSEPS' FAME AS THE BUILDER OF THE SUEZ CANAL ATTRACTED INVESTORS TO THE FRENCH PANAMA CANAL PROJECT. MORE THAN $278,000,000 WAS RAISED, BUT THE COMPANY SPENT MOST OF THIS SUM FOR ENORMOUS SALARIES, ELABORATE OFFICES AND INTEREST ON BONDS, AND LESS THAN HALF OF THE AMOUNT WENT FOR ACTUAL CONSTRUCTION.

AS THE RESULT OF THIS EXTRAVAGANCE THE FRENCH COMPANY FOUND ITSELF SHORT OF MONEY. THEY HAD PLANNED AT FIRST TO BUILD A TIDEWATER CANAL. NOW THIS TYPE WAS ABANDONED FOR A CANAL WITH LOCKS, WHICH WOULD COST LESS.

FINANCIAL DIFFICULTIES WERE NOT THE ONLY TROUBLES THAT BESIEGED THE FRENCH CANAL BUILDERS. DEADLY TROPICAL FEVERS, CARRIED BY DISEASE-BREEDING MOSQUITOES, ATTACKED THE WORKERS, WHO DIED BY SCORES, AND THE DIGGING PROGRESSED AT A SNAIL'S PACE.

IN JULY 1889 THE COMPANY WAS UNABLE TO PAY ITS BILLS, AND WORK ON THE CANAL HAD TO BE ABANDONED. EFFORTS TO RAISE ENOUGH MONEY TO CARRY ON CONSTRUCTION FAILED, AND ALL HOPE OF EVER COMPLETING THE CANAL SEEMED BLASTED.

New Castle High Defeats Wilkinsburg 26-19

Locals Impressive In Opening Battle

New Castle High Basketball Team Flashes Brilliant Offensive Attack

Wilkinsburg Held To Three Field Goals; Wario And Troglione Are High Scorers

By "BUGS" WALTHER

Friday, the thirteenth according to ancient custom is termed a day filled with bad omen. New Castle High School basketball team didn't find this to be true last night as they opened the 1929-30 season with Wilkinsburg High. The final score favored the locals 26 to 19.

New Castle has the makings of a fine team this year. Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh had the boys primed right up to the minute. They didn't look so good in the first half when it came to sinking buckets, but their work on the foul line was good enough to keep them ahead. Wario started a rally in the final two minutes of the first half that gave New Castle six points in short order, previous to that time Nickle Uram, playing his first varsity game, and McAuley had accounted for the only field goals for the red and black artists. The first quarter ended 5 to 1 with New Castle ahead.

Locals Lead At Half
The end of the first half found New Castle leading 17 to 3. The Carroll coached team did not tally from the field in the first two periods. Troglione making good on three foul tries for the only points.

Both coaches used their reserve material as the third and fourth quarters were played. New Castle tallied but three points in the third session with Wario dropping a foul and Alexander a field goal. For the invaders Troglione and S. Mack tallied from the field for the only four points garnered. The third quarter ended 20 to 7.

Visitors Improve
The final chapter found the locals falling down a little on the offensive end of the game, scoring but six points to twelve for the Wilkinsburg team. New Castle however had practically a second team on the court for the biggest part of the fourth stanza.

Alexander looked good for New Castle at center, getting the tipoff from McKillop on a number of occasions and passing to Wario or Hannon. Nick Uram played a fine defensive game, McAuley looked good at a roving guard post.

Troglione, McKillop, and McCullough looked the best for the Wilkinsburgers.

New Castle Looks Good
It was a good game for the opening. It gave "Bridy" a chance to see what is what for the Sectional Three games that are to follow in January. New Castle's team is just a little bit faster than last year, they are accurate passers and will develop into uncanny shots with more practice.

Wilkinsburg dropped a close one to Jeannette the other night. The game was witnessed by a fairly large crowd considering the extremely disagreeable weather.

The summary:
New Castle 26 Wilkinsburg 19
Wario F Edwards
Hannon F Troglione
Alexander C McKillop
McAuley G Kregar
Uram G McCullough
Subs: New Castle—Rowe, McKissock, Winters, Thomas, McIntosh, Wilkinsburg—VanRyn, S. Mack, D. Mack.

Field Goals—Wario 4, Alexander 2, McAuley, Uram, Troglione 3, McCullough, Foul—New Castle 10 out of 17, Wilkinsburg 7 out of 13. Referee—Dan Brickley. Quarters: Eight minutes.

Game With Bessemer Last Evening Rings Up Curtain On Home Season

NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 14.—With only one regular left from last season, coach Karsten is not optimistic over the outlook for the coming basketball season at New Wilmington high school.

The season was opened last evening with Bessemer as the attraction. Hartwell is the only experienced player on the team. New comers who show promise are White, Kaufman, Spears, McMains, McCrumb, Myers and Davis. After the game with Bessemer Friday, the squad will be cut to 12 men. Two boys will be lost to the team until the first of the year because of quarantine.

The schedule this year includes home games with Sharpsville, Grove City, Bessemer, East Brook, Shenango, Union and Mt. Jackson.

Immediately after vacation, Mr. Karsten will undertake the organization of an inter-class basketball league.

Carnegie Midgets Top Trojans 37-14

The Carnegie Midgets defeated the Trojans Friday at the Carnegie Auditorium by the score of 37-14.

Sheldone and Nigro were the best for the winners. Reiter and Mack started for the losers. The lineup: Carnegie 37 Trojans 14
Sheldone F Reiter
Nigro F Mack

UNION GIRLS ARE VICTORS, 21 TO 19

Union high school basketballers got off to a poor start in the 1929-30 county basketball league on Friday night, when the Shenango high school quintet decisively outplayed them by a 33-16 score. The engagement marked the opening of the schedule for both teams, the season officially opening last night.

In a thrilling and hardfought preliminary game the girls' team of Union nosed out the Shenango lassies to the tune of 21-19. Both games were played on Shenango's floor.

At half time the blue and gold passers of Shenango were leading the Union boys by a 17-10 margin, and never once were threatened. Shaffie proved a consistent scorer, leading both teams with seven field goals, besides playing a bang-up game. Lawrence and Weir played a good defensive game. For Union Critchlow and Jaworski were best.

A record crowd witnessed the games.

Following are the line-ups for both the girls' and boys' games:

Boys' Game
Shenango 33 Union 16
Shaffie F Critchlow
Collins F Latimer
Downs C Augustyn
Weir G Severa
Lawrence G Jaworski
Substitutions for Shenango: Smith, Boston and Body; substitutes for Union: Zaremba, Mateja, Wallace, Sniezek and White.

Field goals: Shaffie 7, Baldwin 3, Body, Weir, Lawrence, Critchlow 2, Augustyn, Zaremba, White and Severa.
Fouls: Shenango, 7 out of 11; Union, 4 out of 13.
Referee: Waddington.

The girls' line-up:
Shenango 19 Union 21
Downs F Patton
A. Kopsky F Frank
Long C Carr
Cotton G Smith
Swisher G Winter
Cowmeadow G Campbell
Substitutions for Shenango: A. Kopsky, Myer and Bocher. Substitutions for Union: Kennedy.

Field goals: Downs 5, Kopsky 4, Patton 8.
Fouls: Shenango, 3 out of 12; Union, 5 out of 10.
Scorers: Cowmeadow and Jenkins. Referee: Smith.

Harlansburg High Girls Defeat Plaingrove Girls In Preliminary Game; 37-13

The Harlansburg High girls basketball team defeated Plaingrove High girls 37 to 13 in a preliminary to the boys game.

Plaingrove was held to one field goal in the first half. This was due to the splendid guarding of Moorhead, Eakin and Cunningham. McCracken played a fine game at center, while Locke displayed accuracy in shooting.

Otrema played best for Plaingrove. Lineup: Harlansburg 37 Plaingrove 13
Locke F Otrema
R. McCracken F Rogers
Eakin C Jenkins
Moorhead G Miles
Cunningham G McKissick
Substitutions: Harlansburg: Brown, Kirk, Harlan, Boyd, Jinks, Cameron. Plaingrove: Patterson.
Referee—Mrs. Alexander.

Women Swimmers Set New Marks

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Three Illinois Woman's Athletic Club swimmers today hold a new national record for the 300-yard medley relay.

Fanchon Homer, Jane Fauntz, national breast stroke champion, and Mary Lou Quinn established the new mark last night when they stroked the distance in three minutes 46 1-10 seconds. The former record was held by the Women's Swimming Association of New York with three minutes 54 4-10.

Either the furnace which heats the gymnasium or the gas heater which supplied hot water for showers is believed responsible for the near-asphyxiation of the coach and his basketball squad.

Southern California Favored Over Tech In Coast Contest Today

By GEORGE T. DAVIS
International News Service Special Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 14.—Favored to stem the invasion of the Tartans of Carnegie Tech, the University of Southern California foot ball eleven today will face its eastern rival in the first intersectional battle of the year on the Pacific Coast.

Odds were being quoted at 10 to 6 on the Trojans. Even money was being wagered that Troy would win by more than eight points.

It was the speed of Southern California pitted against the aerial attack of the skibos that attracted the fans.

Both Defeated
Both teams had been defeated twice during the regular season, bowing to a common rival, Notre Dame. Tech also lost to Pittsburgh and Troy was beaten by California.

Today's game had particular significance, however, for on New Year's day Southern California must represent the West against Pittsburgh—Carnegie's next door neighbor—in the annual tournament of roses classic at Pasadena.

Pitt overwhelmed the Skibos, 34 to 13 early in the year. It remained for Southern California to do likewise if the importance of the Pasadena game was to be preserved.

Of the Tartans every player except John Highberger, the mammoth tackle, was reported in the best of condition. He took part in the secret workout at the Rose Bowl yesterday afternoon and there was a possibility that he would be able to play today.

Coast Team in Shape
Southern California is in better physical condition than at any other time during the present season, and Jesse Hill, the speedy little fullback, was the only man on the squad not fit.

Coach Howard Jones has specialized on defensive tactics during the week, for he is admittedly worried by the myriad formations of the visitors' intricate system of attack.

Harry McCurdy, successor to Howard Harpster, Tech's all-American quarterback of a year ago, was expected to be "key man" of the visitors attack, although a good ball carrier and a splendid punter. McCurdy was feared mostly for his accuracy in tossing forward passes.

The Brooklyn Dodgers have a terrible time deciding who is to be boss. But they have a worse time trying to win a pennant.

Uncle Wilbert Robinson is president and manager and to prove it plants 300 pounds of himself on the bench. The other side isn't allowed to use dynamite so Wilbert's job has been safe in the past.

Leading the opposition is Steve McKeever, who thinks Robbie would make a great manager for some other club.

Bobbie hasn't won a pennant since 1920, which is a long time between cancelled world series checks.

The Dodgers had a habit of winning every presidential year, but when the country went Republican it was a landslide for the Giants.

There is only one satisfactory way of settling the leadership squabble. Swipe Babe Ruth from the Yanks and elect him president and chief game winner.

Brooklyn Sells Two Players To Minor Leagues

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The Brooklyn National League club Friday sold "Butch" Henline, a catcher, and Win Ballou, a pitcher. Henline goes to Toledo in the American Association and Ballou to Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast League.

Henline, formerly with the Phillies, has been in the majors for years. He figured in comparatively few games for the Dodgers last season although heretofore he had been a prodigious toiler. Ballou's 1929 record with Brooklyn was not impressive either.

The Dodgers had a habit of winning every presidential year, but when the country went Republican it was a landslide for the Giants.

Those who recognized a yellow streak as a source of gold in the old days were miners. Now they are racketeers.

Shires sprang into prominence last season when he blackened an eye or two for Manager Lena Blackburne and Hack Wilson has felled a milk wagon driver and two pitchers for the Cincinnati Reds.

"Certainly I'll fight," was Hack's answer. "I am in good shape now and I'll start training immediately for the bout. I'll get some of my pugilistic friends in the East to give me some of the fine points."

"Hack won't be able to see my gloves at all, just like he lost sight of the ball in the world's series," Shires declared when informed that Wilson was to be his foe.

The bout is to be some time in January, the date to be set later.

The City Basketball League will start the 1929-30 season on Monday night at the Y. M. C. A. according to an announcement by Henry MacNicholas today. Four teams comprise the circuit.

Monday night the P. R. R. team will tangle with the "Y" Seniors following the playing of the games in the league are the New Castle Boosters and the South Side Lincolns.

Gillium Injured In Auto Accident
The many friends of Charles, "Horse" Gillium, well known local athlete will be sorry to learn that Gillium had the misfortune to be in an auto accident shortly before Thanksgiving Day up in Syracuse, New York, and that he has been suffering with a fractured wrist. The wrist seems to be fractured in two places.

Gillium is a member of the Syracuse team of the American Professional basketball league, and hopes to get back in the game soon after the first of the year. Prior to his injury, Gillium was playing a fine brand of basketball according to the report.

Hack Wilson To Fight Shires

Cub Accepts $10,000 Guarantee To Box White Sox Slugger

BABE RUTH MAY REFEREE ENCOUNTER

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—The greatest fight of the ages with the great Arthur Shires, White Sox belligerent, in one corner and the impromptu fistic gladiator, Hack Wilson, in the other and Babe Ruth, perhaps, as referee.

This is the sports spectacle Chicago is looking forward to today.

Hack Wilson has accepted Promoter James Mullen's proposition, and the $10,000 guarantee, and has sent word from his home in Martinsburg, W. Va. that he starts training for the bout at once.

The great Shires broke a long silence today to tell what he will do to "Outfielder" Wilson. Shires is under contract to Mullen on a percentage basis, so his acceptance was not necessary.

Mullen has not yet arranged for Babe Ruth's assistance as referee, but he hopes the Bambino can see fit to complete the pugilistic feature of the century. Mullen is uncertain whether the Illinois boxing commission would agree to Babe's participation in the affair.

Shires and Wilson, two of the most talked about baseball players in the country, have had extensive experience at impromptu fistic contests if they are lacking in professional ring experience.

Shires sprang into prominence last season when he blackened an eye or two for Manager Lena Blackburne and Hack Wilson has felled a milk wagon driver and two pitchers for the Cincinnati Reds.

"Certainly I'll fight," was Hack's answer. "I am in good shape now and I'll start training immediately for the bout. I'll get some of my pugilistic friends in the East to give me some of the fine points."

Wisconsin beat Colgate; California, Penn; Chicago, Princeton; Michigan, Harvard; Illinois, Army; and so on—it just can't be said infrequently! This season, as well as last, the big western football teams simply mastered nearly every eastern team they played. The east doesn't play an effete game by any means, yet its best teams have been beaten regularly by manifestly better elevens from the far or middle west.

True it is, that an eastern all-star outfit managed to defeated its western rival in a big charity game on the Pacific coast last winter, but that seemed to be just about as insignificant as all such "all-star" events are.

If Pitt goes to California the east will lay everything salvaged from the recent Grizzly Market on the Panthers to tear the hide off anything the west tosses into the Rose Bowl.

Some enthusiastic easterners also claim Notre Dame as their own, though South Bend, Ind., decidedly is in the middle west. And those same enthusiasts hailed Notre Dame's defeat of Southern California as an eastern victory! Perhaps they may be right if the Mississippi river is a fair dividing line between east and west football talent. In that case, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, etc., would be classified as eastern teams—which does seem strange!

If the Appalachian mountains are a natural boundary between east and middle west, it must be conceded that Pittsburgh on the frontier and Colgate in northern New York seem to be the only two teams that might cope successfully with such western machines as Stanford, California, Southern California, St. Mary's, Minnesota or even Utah.

The west, in either its middle or far sectors, seems to have a gradually increasing edge on the east for several seasons. But, as they might say at Harvard: "That difference may be more apparent than real, you know!"

McLarnin Stops Ruby Goldstein

New York Welterweight Saved By Bell From Kayo In First Round

By DAVID J. WALSH
NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—There was dynamite in "them thar" gloves last night, stranger. One went off like a cap pistol and the other like a six-gun and it would take a better man than Ruby Goldstein, the pride of the buttonhole makers, to make a contest out of a thing like that. Ruby didn't. He was clipped for a quarter divided by Jimmy McLarnin in 52 seconds of the second round of an event that never got beyond the proportions of a one-man show. Down three times during the fight, Ruby showed to advantage only once last night. He won the cheering contest before they started to fight.

Three minutes and fifty two seconds later he was doing a Rock of Ages on the horizontal from a right hand pot-shot to the jaw. Few of them get up when James hits them. Ruby didn't even shiver. He lay there, cold and quiescent, until they came and got him after Magnolia counted carefully up to ten. If every second was a minute, the chances are he still would have been there.

Gate Draws $107,000.
As a result, the McLarnin, Jackie Fields, welterweight, championship match is the thing Broadway clamors for today—and doesn't get. It would gross away up in the serious money but the promoter who satisfies this pair will let himself in for a serious headache. Both of them are perfectly willing to go for ninety cents on every dollar.

McLarnin helped to draw a $107,000 crowd last night that packed the Garden from ringside to rafters. He couldn't do it without Goldstein, of course. They still follow the latter around and they cheered him minutes on end when he came into the ring. When he went out, they still were cheering but the cheers were for the other man. He deserved them. Regardless of how comical Ruby's chin may be, it is no chump trick to beat him to the punch.

It is easy, for example, to kill a rattlesnake, provided you shoot first. If the rattlesnake shoots first, you simply finish second without further argument. The rattler's strike has nothing on Goldstein's punch, which to date has cut down 54 victims in 67 fights. That's probably the greatest record ever compiled in the ring.

Down Goes Ruby.
Ruby was all business, too, as he came out there with the opening bell and began waiting punches with a bewildering speed of hand and foot. Twice he let rights go at McLarnin's jaw and a curious expression stole over the young man's puzzled face when James took them with nothing more than a shy little grin.

It was as though he had gambled on an all-or-nothing basis on this pair and thereafter feared the worst. McLarnin was "measuring" for a jaw and a curious expression stole over the young man's puzzled face when James took them with nothing more than a shy little grin.

Rail Stocks Soar In Market Today

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Railroad stocks took the lead in the upward movement of prices at the week-end.

A dozen or more of the transportation favorites moved ahead briskly on reports that prominent eastern roads had agreed on consolidation policies and would bend every effort to effect important mergers next year.

New York Central has already received permission to formally merge its subsidiary roads and will declare the merger effective February first. The bureau of railway economics reported ten-months traffic of 1929 at the highest figures in the history of the country.

New York Central pushed ahead briskly to 179 for a gain of 4 points. Pittsburgh and West Virginia was up 6; New Haven up 5; St. Paul preferred up 4; Atchinson up 3 at 227; Missouri Pacific up 1-1/2 at 91; Western Maryland up nearly 4 points at 31-1/4; Chicago and Northwestern up 2-1/2; Katy up 2-1/2 at 50; Chesapeake and Ohio up 2-1/2; Baltimore and Ohio up 1-1/2.

Business Is Good.
Buying of the industrials was stimulated by the reports of excellent Christmas and holiday business submitted to President Hoover from various sections of the country. In many cases the Christmas buying was reported better than last year.

Fox Film met with better support in this period and sold at 40-1/2, up 6-1/2 from yesterday's low.

Forward movements were resumed in the second hour in a number of the industrials and specialties. Pools and in Radio, International Combustion, United Corporation and others.

As the session wore on, in marked contrast to the week, as buying demand appeared to flow in from outside points. Radio gathered up 2 more points when the stock was boosted along to 46-3/4, completing a gain of nearly 17 points from the low of last month.

Stock trading slumped off in volume as the session wore on, in marked contrast to the week, as buying demand appeared to flow in from outside points. Radio gathered up 2 more points when the stock was boosted along to 46-3/4, completing a gain of nearly 17 points from the low of last month.

The steel, oil and copper stocks covered considerable territory without arousing at any place in particular, due to persistent professional selling. Mexican Seaboard, Standard of New Jersey and other active oils, sold at slightly lower prices.

Central W. C. T. U.

The Central W. C. T. U. met at the Y. W. C. A. Friday evening for their regular session. The meeting was featured by a playlet, "The Highway" which illustrated the Americanization department. This playlet is from the pen of Miss Eve Nicklin, Methodist deaconess, and the various parts were portrayed by the Misses Nicklin, Weisz, Schnackle and Mrs. Ruth Wright. It was enthusiastically received by the union.

Devotionals were led by Mrs. Jennie Forquer, who used the Christmas story from the Bible. Mrs. Ruth Wright was accompanist for the songs, "America" and "Blest Be The Tie That Binds." Prayers were offered for the sick members.

Mrs. James Cunningham, superintendent of soldiers and sailors, requested all those who have not yet made their donations of preserves and jellies for the hospital at Aspinwall, to do so at once so the articles can be forwarded.

Letters were read from the state president and state secretary. The Central Union decided to join with the county W. C. T. U. in their "Victory Luncheon," which is to be held in January.

The new directories were distributed and reports were made of 94 calls, 1 quart and 8 glasses of jelly donated, 12 garments, 18 bouquet, 16 evangelistic meetings, 2 devotionals, 10 sure promise cards, 5 religious books, 10 library books, 30 papers and magazines, 4 letters and $12.54 in money donated to different causes.

Guests for the afternoon were: Mrs. Earl Young, Mrs. W. M. Smock, Mrs. C. C. Wick, Mrs. J. H. Nelson, Mrs. T. S. Neal and Mrs. J. E. Hutchinson.

The meeting was closed by the song composed in honor of the state president, Mrs. Ella M. George, followed by prayer, led by Mrs. E. N. Baer.

Robbery Attempted At North Hill Store

An attempt to rob the A. & P. store, corner of Highland avenue and Winter avenue, was discovered this morning by the manager on opening up for business.

The police were notified and Detective C. G. Logan and Officer Thomas Lynch were detailed to investigate.

They found that fifteen holes had been bored with a quarter inch drill through the lock of the rear door, but that the door and lock held and entrance had not been accomplished.

1930 Auto Tags Can Be Used On Sunday

Pennsylvania auto license tags for 1930 can be placed in use tomorrow, an announcement from the bureau of motor vehicles of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways states, and after Sunday they will undoubtedly be seen in increasing numbers on local machines.

A great many motorists of New Castle have already received their 1930 tags, and many are planning to place them on their machines tomorrow. This should prove a constant reminder to those who have not as yet applied for their tags. There will be no extension of time after January 1, 1930, for those who do not procure their plates prior to that time.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

China Worker to Speak

Members of the Phalanx fraternity and the Senior Hi-Y club will gather at 6:30 Monday evening for a joint dinner-meeting. Following the dinner, R. B. Hall, Y. M. C. A. worker in China for the past 20 years, but who is now home on furlough, will speak. An interesting program has been arranged and good attendances from both organizations are anticipated.

New Club Organized

Another Pioneer club has been organized out of the membership of the Junior B class of the Y boys' department by R. L. Meermans, general secretary, this morning. From now on the boys will meet regularly with Mr. Meermans as their supervisor.

Boys at Ceremony

Regular class periods were held by the boys of Scioto street last night at the Neighborhood house on Scioto street. Following the classes of 45 minutes, the group of 70 went uptown to witness the program in connection with the Christmas light illumination.
